ROAD CONTRACTORS PACT, FOR ONE NOT TO BID, IS FOUND

Attorney-General Barrett Says He Is in Possession of Agreement Signed by Two Men.

EX-CONGRESSMAN
A. C. CROW NAMED

He Is Said to Have Entered Into Arrangement Affecting State Projects in Dunklin County.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 3.—
Discovery of a written agreement between two road contractors whereby one was to refrain from bidding on Missouri State road projects in Dunklin County and in consideration would receive $25,000 and 10 cents a cubic yard for gravel from the other contractor, has been made by the Attorney-General's office, according to a statement today by Attorney-General Barrett.

The agreement in writing is in possession of the Attorney-General, who declared that criminal prosecution by his office would follow immediately. The bidding contractor was awarded a state contract for $85,000 on a project estimated by the Highway Commission at $36,000, Barrett said.

Contracts Awarded in 1922.
Investigations in the matter were made by Alvin May, Assistant Attorney-General. The agreement was made and bids on the roads to be constructed in Dunklin County were let in December, 1922, according to Attorney-General Barrett. The bids were made in Kennett, Mo., county seat of Dunklin County.

Five contracts were to be let,
totaling about $1,550,000, and six contractors were at Kennett to bid, the Attorney-General said. One of the bidders was A. C. Crow, Campbell, Mo., former Congressman, and another was Albert Creek of Gideon, Mo., according to Barrett.

The agreement, so termed in writing, was written at Kennett, where the contractors were meeting to bid on the projects. It was dated Dec.
22, 1922, and stated that this "agreement"
between A. C. Crow and Albert Creek of the Campbell Creek Construction Co. is that "Crow refrain from bidding on the projects
and that Creek agrees to pay Crow $25,000 and 10 cents a cubic yard for gravel bought from Crow," according to Barrett's statement.

Statement of Contractor.
Crow declared, Barrett stated,
that he entered into the agreement
and surrendered the written document to the Attorney-General only to show up the situation.

The matter is a violation of Federal laws as well as State laws, the Attorney-General declared, stating that Federal aid was included in the contracts for the projects.

Further investigation of the matter, termed by the Attorney-General
"an agreement between bidders to suffice competition," will be made to determine if other persons besides those who signed the contracts are involved, Barrett said.

Crow Controlled Gravel Beds.
The reason of the offer of 10 cents
a cubic yard for gravel, to be paid to Crow by Creek, as stated in the agreement, was because Crow held options on all the gravel gravel beds in the vicinity of the road projects according to May.

The contract for $85,000 was awarded to Creek in December, 1922, May said. The road projects in the county were being constructed under the Morgan-McCullough law, he added.

J. V. Billings, prosecuting attorney of Dunklin County, has been instructed to proceed with prosecution of the matter, Barrett said. The matter has also been laid before the State Highway Commission to determine whether any contracts should be canceled.

SURGEON CHATS WITH PATIENT WHILE OPERATING ON STOMACH

Austrian at Buffalo Clinic Demonstrates "Solar Plexus Treatment," Making Anesthetic Unnecessary.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Chatting from time to time with the man on the operating table, Dr. Hans Finster of the University of Vienna,
before a clinic of Buffalo surgeons,
today removed the patient's stomach sufficiently, without detaching
it, to perform a minor operation on the organ, and then replaced it in natural position. The operation required only two hours, the patient being fully conscious throughout.

Dr. Finster explained that special treatment of the solar plexus, deadening the nerve centers, had made unnecessary the use of an anesthetic. Physicians examining the patient said he suffered none of the after effects of shock usual in major operations.

WALTON, BEATEN AT POLLS, TIES UP ELECTION RETURNS

Obtains Temporary Restraining Order in State Court to Prevent Certification of Results of Balloting.

BIG MAJORITY GIVEN
IMPEACHMENT ISSUE

Other Five Amendments, Including Soldiers' Bonus, Apparently Are Defeated—Few Minor Disorders.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 3.— A temporary restraining order preventing the State Election Board from certifying the returns from yesterday's special election was issued in State District Court here today.

The order was issued on application filed by counsel for Gov. J. C.
Walton. The State Capitol was again
under guard of State troops today.
Frank Carter, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, declared it was his understanding that the guards were under orders to prevent certification to the State Election Board of returns. No explanation of the guard's reappearance could be obtained from the Adjutant-General's office.

The order was granted immediately after the executive's petition was filed before Judge Tom G.
Chambers Jr. It enjoins W. C. Mc-Alister, secretary, John P. Logan,
"deposed" chairman, Ira Mitchell,
newly appointed chairman, and Claude Baker, member, from certifying the returns of "the pretended election" to the Secretary of State.
The action was brought by Walton
as Governor. Judge Chambers was appointed by Walton.

Opponents Propose Investigation.
At the same time, it was announced by Campbell Russell, former chairman of the State Corporation Commission and a leader in the opposition to the Governor, that he would file a petition for a grand jury
in District Court to investigate official acts of the executive. Mr. Russell circulated the petition on the streets early today.

The petition, Russell said, would seek an investigation of alleged misuse of public funds by Gov. Walton and also would direct an inquiry into the Governor's actions in commissioning thousands of special State police.

The charge of misuse of funds grew out of the allegation that the Governor used State employees contrary to law in checking signatures
on the initiated petition, approved yesterday at the polls, to provide a way for the Legislature to meet before the Governor could review official acts of State officers.

Calls Election Invalid.
In his application for the restrain-ing order the Governor alleged the election was "invalid" because of the question to be voted upon had not been properly published previous to the election. He charged that special officers appointed by Sheriff
throughout the State had intimidated voters, that the Ku Klux Klan exercised repressive measures against the electorate and that approximately 200,000 voters were not permitted to cast their ballots.

The Governor set out that he is endangered by the "pretended" election in that it gives the Legislature an "apparent" ground for holding an immediate impeachment session.
A former deputy jury called upon petition circulated by Russell to investigate the executive's use of public money, was stopped by the military authorities, who trained a machine gun on the grand jury room.

Opponents of the Governor scored a sweeping victory in the special election. By a decisive majority a constitutional amendment was adopted empowering the Legislature to meet on its own call to consider impeachment charges against the Governor.

Despite the executive's proclamation postponing the election and his threat to block it by armed force, balloting proceeded peacefully, except for minor instances, throughout the State. Indications today are that the heaviest vote at a referendum election in the history of the State had been polled. It is estimated that more than 300,000 votes were cast.

Returns from 1595 precincts out of 2377 in the State on the legislative proposal gave: For, 161,013; against, 43,265.

Five Other Amendments Beaten.
Five other constitutional amendments, including a soldiers' bonus, apparently were defeated. On the face of late returns, the vote on these measures stood:
Bonus—For, 53,687; against, 72, 953.
For refunding depositors' losses
caused by failure of State banks—
For, 35,798; against, 68,492.
Additional school levy—For, 62,

ZR-1 LANDS AT LAKEHURST AFTER 2200-MILE VOYAGE

Flight to St. Louis and Return of Great Dirigible
Made in 47 Hours, 49
Minutes.

By the Associated Press.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 3.— Completing a record trip to St. Louis and return, the navy dirigible ZR-1 nosed its way out of a bank of clouds within sight of her home hangar at the naval aviation field here at 6:08 this morning. The trip was officially at an end at 6:48 a. m.
when it landed.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, who joined the flight at St. Louis, was the first to leap to earth as the control car skimmed the landing field.
Behind him came Commanders
Frank R. McCreary and Ralph O.
Weyerbacher. Three hundred sailors and marines greeted them with salutes and cheers.

Most Satisfactory, Moffett Says.
The trip from the eastward here
to the return had consumed 47
hours and 49 minutes. The ship covered approximately 2200 miles. The maximum speed was 78 miles an hour.
"A trip most satisfactory in every respect," declared Moffett. "We

KILLS MAN WHO TREATED HIM "RAW" IN REALTY DEAL

Joplin Man Then Ended Life by Cutting Throat With Razor—Note Mentions Woman in Alleged Swindle.

By the Associated Press.
ANDERSON, Mo., Oct. 3.—Bert S.
Dunn, real estate dealer, was shot and instantly killed in his office here yesterday by C. W. Hester of Joplin. Hester then went to his room in a hotel and cut his throat
with a razor, dying a short time later.

Officers who went to arrest Hester found a letter dated Sept. 17, and addressed to C. A. Tandy, hotel proprietor. Parts of the letter were illegible, but the authorities said Hester complained to Tandy of "raw treatment" at the hands of Dunn in a real estate transaction.
Hester also mentioned a woman in the letter, declaring she was involved in swindling money from him. The letter indicates that Hester's actions were premeditated, as it makes the request that the remainder of his estate be turned over to a daughter in Tulsa, Ok.

NURSE READY TO DEVOTE LIFE TO MAN SHE BLINDED IN ANGER

Tells Magistrate She Will Give Her Savings to Help Victim Regain His Sight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Miss Marie
Toth, nurse, of 544 Willis avenue,
the Bronx, will devote her life to caring for the man whom her anger made blind. She loved him and he loved her, she says. Then she threw muriatic acid, with which she had intended to take her own life, in his face. Since that night, Aug. 10, when he was taken, blinded and burned, to the city hospital, she had not seen him.

Yesterday Miss Toth was arranged in Harlem Court and held by Magistrate Rittenberg in $5000
for the grand jury. As the sightless man, John Harvey, was led into the courtroom Miss Toth fainted and on regaining consciousness became hysterical.

She told the magistrate she would like whatever punishment the law
provided; she would give her savings of $2000 to help Harvey regain his sight and she would devote her life
to seeing that he was cared for.

MEN BREAK INTO POISONOUS REPTILE HOUSE IN NEW YORK

Pair, Believed to Have Been Frightened Away, Planned to Steal Snakes at Bronx Park.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Two men
secluded themselves in the cellar of the reptile house at Bronx Park, Monday night, and sometime yesterday broke open the back of the cobra cage.

There are four hooded cobras in that particular cage. One is a South Africa yellow cobra, another is an Indian spectacled cobra, and the other two are Philippine black co-bras. Their bite is fatal in two hours.

The men intended to steal the snakes. They brought along a violin case to put them in. The case was perforated on one side with small holes and locked. The small end had been hinged, so that it made a door. To get the snakes from the cage into the violin case they had a sectional rod four and a half feet long and rigged with a curtain cord that manipulated a set of jaws at one end.

According to John Toomey, the head keeper, the men must have been frightened away by the arrival of a watchman to make the fire in the cellar. They hurriedly bundled up a strip of cheese cloth and stuffed it into the hole in the door to prevent the snakes from escaping. They had cut the hole with a gimlet.
When the keeper came to work he

FREIGHT SHIPMENT RECORDS

Several Marks Broken Last Month
by Missouri Pacific.

Several records for freight shipments over the road were broken
last month by the Missouri Pacific Railroad, it was shown today by the monthly report of President L. W.
Baldwin. The largest number of loaded cars ever moved by the railroad was recorded on Sept. 22, when 17,446 were handled. The daily average for the month was 15,621
cars, six less than the high record made in March, 1926. The record for cars loaded locally and received from connections also was broken,
the September daily mark of 5147 cars being 392 cars greater than the previous high mark, made in August.

For the last three months, local loadings and receipts from connections have exceeded the same period last year by approximately 28 per cent.

LIABILITIES OF $1,500,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A petition was filed in Federal Court today for an equity receiver for J. M. Gliding & Co., importers and retail dealers in women's apparel. Liabilities of the fashionable Fifth avenue house were given as $1,500,000.

DRIVER OF AUTO TRUCK THAT KILLED U. R. LABORER, HELD

Spencer Renfro, Negro, Put Under
$500 Bond by Coroner After Inquest Over Body of James Killoren.

Spencer Renfro, Negro, Put Under
quest Over Body of James Killoren.
James Killoren, 50 years old, of 1224 Pendleton avenue, a track laborer for the United Railways, Killoren died of injuries suffered when a truck driven by Renfro struck him
after careening from a pole on the sidewalk in front of 241 Cass avenue.

Killoren and other laborers were cleaning brick on a pile in the street
when the truck, which witnesses at the inquest testified was moving at about 20 miles an hour, was thrown from its course by a loose paving
block in the street, struck the pole and glanced on to the brick pile and struck him. He died at the city hospital several hours later.

W. T. Cashier Robbed of $8000.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 3.—Four armed bandits held up the cashier and the timekeeper in the main office of the Western Union Telegraph
Co. here late yesterday, obtaining $8000 and making their escape.

STOCKHOLDERS IN MAN'S VOICE SAY GOOD BY TO INVESTMENT

"East Side Caruso" Going to Rome
to Study and Promotes to Return as an Artist.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Angelo Ragini, the "East Side Caruso," sells for Rome today to cultivate the voice which recently was capitalized by admiring friends at 400 shares of $25 par value stock.
Scores of shareholders were down to the pier to bid good-by to their investment.

"Bon voyage, and take good care
of your throat," they told him.

Fellow employees in the office of Mayor Hylan claim the distinction of having discovered the merits of Ragini's voice. He was warbling over his ledgers one day when a clerk near by said: "Hey, Caruso, why don't you hire a hall?" Ra-gini did so. He staged a boxing match. He fought a heavy hitter and lost by a knockout.

With the gate receipts Ragini intended to sail for Italy to study voice. He lacked sufficient funds, so his friends came forward a few days ago, organized the stock company and sold shares on his prospects.

THE SQUEAK OF THE BIRCH TREE

LAKE STEVENS, Wash.—The
continued weird cry, night after night, supposed to have been made by a cougar, depopulated a summer resort north of here. (Now, foresters report they have discovered the source of the strange shrieks. The terrifying noise was made by two sail fins growing so close together their rough trunks rubbed. The pitch and resin in the bark produced a loud squeak akin to a yell.

HEADLESS BODY IS FOUND

Discovered in Dressing Room of Pittsburg Swimming Pool.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—The headless and nude body of an unidentified white man was found in the girls' dressing room of the city swimming pool on the South Side here today. A trail of blood led from the building to the Monongahela River bank nearby. Police said they believed the head had been thrown into the river.

Civil War Veteran in 180-Mile Flight to St. Louis Field.

Rufus H. Scott, 84 years old, a Civil War veteran, was one of four passengers who made the trip to St.
St. Louis Field from Monmouth, Ill., in a Breguet biplane piloted by John Livingston. The distance, 146 miles by rail, was made in two hours. The aged man said it was not his first air ride.

VEILED PROPHET'S PARADE SEEN BY ENORMOUS THROGG

Dark that was the rest of the city, a little boy started after it and was caught by a policeman. He watched through tears as the bright, happy thing disappeared.

Down Market street the Prophet passed, the lights of his procession beating warm against red brick and unpainted wood. He doubtless marvelled at the endless rows of smiling faces—white and black faces—and pondered that so much happiness, even for one night, could be.

Best of all the floats the crowds liked the one with Peter Pan. He stood on the deck of a pirate ship, and my, that ship was a ship. It had a black anchor and all the rigging.

There was a float entitled "Robin Hood," and all children who saw it know how nice it was. A man in armor rode on a dashing horse. He looked right at several little boys and waved his sword.

Children poked their fingers and said "Ho! Ho!" when they saw William the Conqueror on another float. The nose piece of William's helmet was atrociously made. Everybody in the crowd who had ever studied English history knew he could never plug an English yeoman with such a nose piece in the way.

Single-Tree Broken. The parade passed before multitudes gathered on the plazas by the Municipal Courts Building and the City Hall. A horse, helping to pull the float entitled "Ponce de Leon," broke his single-tree as the float turned into Twelfth boulevard. This necessitated a brief halt.

North on Twelfth boulevard to Olive street and into the full heart of the city's business section the Prophet made his way. Confetti fluttered down from the dark buildings and the phosphorescent gleam of that splendor passing below sent shivers of light high on their stolid fronts. Throughout the downtown section merry-makers had provided themselves with ticklers and horns which they used riotously. Girls singled out mounted officers and tried to tickle their horses.

Jam at Twelfth Boulevard. While the parade was marching west on Washington avenue the many thousands who had been on the municipal buildings plaza crowded into Twelfth boulevard for the carnival to be held there. There were so many spectators already on the street that a serious jam resulted. However, there was no great disorder and policemen cleared the dancing space on the west side of the plaza.

There was little noise during the "Oh!" and squealed, but not very loudly, and, of course, no grown persons would forget themselves over a mere parade.

All Washington avenue was lined with spectators, from Fourth street to the Coliseum—sometimes the rows were 100 deep on either side of the street.

The Prophet's float drew up to the Locust street side of the Coliseum at 2:40 p. m. He arose, somewhat stiffly, it might be said, and walked with becoming dignity into the circle of dress suits and evening gowns awaiting him.

Lights went out on the many floats as one by one they left Jefferson avenue. And with the lights died the color and the spirit that had lived in these grotesque chariots. That noble illusion which had moved and transformed for the passing moment the ordinary and the real, was vanished.

On the streets people took sleepy, fretting children home to bed.

FORMER DETECTIVE ON TRIAL

Alfred Ballin Said to Have Created Causes for Investigations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Alfred Ballin, or "Ballinow," former private detective and alleged radical, who was brought to trial in Federal Court yesterday, charged with using the mails with the intention of defrauding the Government, wrote letters threatening to blow up the Woolworth Building, and then sought the job of investigating the threats.

James J. Doran, postoffice inspector, testified before Federal Judge Knox. Some time ago, Ballin, who testified in the Foster trial in Chicago, said he had been hired by a private detective agency as an "agent provocateur" to get strikers to commit outrages and sabotage.

GRANITE CITY PLANT DESTROYED SECOND TIME IN YEAR BY FIRE

Mirflic Products Co. Building Burns to Ground, With Damage Estimated $15,000.

The plant of the Mirflic Products Co., manufacturing oils and greases for machinery, at Twenty-fourth and A streets, Granite City, was destroyed by fire this morning for the second time in about a year. Fire Department officials estimated the damage to building, contents and machinery at $15,000, fully covered by insurance.

Both fires started in the same manner, grease in a vat boiling over and igniting the oil-soaked floors of the one-story frame and tile structure. This morning's fire started at 6:15 o'clock, but the vat attendant on duty said that it was half an hour before he could get telephone connection with the Fire Department. By that time the fire was beyond control. The building had burned to the ground by 9 o'clock.

SHOT WHEN HE TRIES TO END ROW BETWEEN MAN AND WIFE

Coal Miner Critically Wounded as Result of Efforts to Act as Peacemaker for Neighbors.

August Yurgin, 43 years old, a coal miner, was shot in the neck and critically injured near his home four miles south of Edwardsville, Ill., at 6 o'clock last night, when he sought to act as peacemaker between Afton Strankovitch, 35, also a coal miner, a neighbor, and the latter's wife. Physicians said today that if Yurgin survives he probably will be permanently paralyzed.

Neighbors told officials that Strankovitch and his wife quarreled most of yesterday. She exhibited bruises today which she said were inflicted by her husband. She ran from the house last night and appealed to neighbors for help. Yurgin was shot by Strankovitch when he went into the latter's house to pacify him.

DELICIOUS CRANBERRY JELLY.

You can make 10 tumblers of jelly with 2½ pounds of sugar and 8 pounds of Cranberries! Try this recipe:

Cook until soft the desired quantity of cranberries with 1½ pints of water for each two quarts of berries. Strain the juice through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and heat it to the boiling point. Add one cup of sugar for every two cups of juice; stir until the sugar is dissolved; boil briskly for five minutes; skim, and pour into glass tumblers, porcelain or crockery molds.

The most economical of fruits. Prudent housewives will secure cranberries now.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff
 There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
 By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

ADMITTS HE KILLED MAN IN $100,000 INSURANCE PLOT

Californian, Supposed to Have Been Burned to Death on Ranch Sept. 12, Found Alive.

HAD BEEN GIVEN AN ELABORATE FUNERAL

Stranger He Murdered in Carrying Out Deception Picked Up at Free Employment Agency.

By the Associated Press.
 EUREKA, Cal., Oct. 3.—Alex Kels, wealthy butcher of Lodi, Cal., confessed today to authorities that he killed a stranger on his ranch near Lodi, Sept. 12, set fire to a hay stack near his automobile to burn the body and disappeared in order to enable his wife to collect his insurance money amounting to $100,000.
 Announcement of the confession was made by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Woodward of San Joaquin County after he and Sheriff W. H. Riecke had grilled Kels for nearly four hours.
 Was in Financial Distress.
 The attempted hoax was carried out, Kels told the officers, because he was in financial distress. Who the man was that he killed he declared that he did not know. He said that he picked up the stranger at a Lodi free employment agency and took him to his ranch. There he shot the stranger twice, killing him. He then put the body into an automobile, covering it with a tarpole and drove about in the vicinity that day.
 He stopped at Lodi late in the day at an oil filling station and obtained some gasoline, later driving to the ranch where the body was found. Heaping the hay around the machine he set fire to it and fled from the scene, walking to Sacramento, where he began a trip over the Southwest, including Texas. He finally went to Eureka where he was arrested Monday night.
 The two officers left here this morning for Lodi with Kels.
 Says He Concealed Plan Himself.
 The confession came after persistent denials by Kels that he had had a hand in the death of the man who for nearly three weeks was believed to have been Kels himself and whose body was buried after one of the most elaborate funeral services ever held in San Joaquin County. Kels told the officers that he conceived the plan himself that he never expected to realize on the insurance money, but to assure his wife of getting it and to discharge his obligations he had contracted.
 His wife is ill at her home in Lodi and has not been told that Kels is alive and under arrest.

SUIT FOR ACCOUNTING OF LOAN TO PRETTYMAN FILED

Company Alleged to Threaten Foreclosure, Although It Has Not Completed Contract.
 A suit filed in Circuit Court asks that the Community Estate, Inc., with offices in the International Life Building, make an accounting of what is due on a loan it made to Harry E. Prettyman, a real estate operator. The petition states that Oct. 5, 1922, Prettyman, representing the King's Highway Park Realty Co., which was promoting a subdivision here, applied for a $54,000 loan, depositing as security a $60,000 note executed by the King's Highway company and made payable to him. He also tendered as further security deeds of trust given by purchasers of lots in the subdivision.
 It is alleged in the suit that the defendant company has not paid out $54,000, the maximum applied for, although the value of the collateral deposited by Prettyman is greatly in excess of that sum. A statement of what is due has been demanded from time to time, but the defendant has failed to comply and now threatens to bring suit to foreclose and sell the collateral, it is alleged.
 The accounting suit is filed in the interest of the King's Highway Park Co., which has assigned its claim to Walter W. Schiek, who is named as plaintiff. He asks that the defendant be enjoined from selling the notes and deeds of trust.

BOSTON MASONS TO JOIN K. OF C. IN COLUMBUS DAY CELEBRATION

Their Drum Corps Will Escort Mayor Curly and Visiting Officials of the Knights.
 By the Associated Press.
 BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Masons of Boston will join with Knights of Columbus in celebrating Columbus Day, Oct. 12. The contribution of the Masons to the municipal celebration on Boston Common, to commemorate the discovery of America by Columbus, will be the services of the Alepho Drum Corps of 185 pieces for a concert. The drum corps formed the personal escort of the late President Harding at the Plymouth tercentenary celebration in 1921.
 After the concert on the Common, the corps will escort Mayor Curly and visiting dignitaries, many of them Knights of Columbus officials, to a banquet at a Boston hotel.

THEFTS KEEP POLICE BUSY MAKING REPORTS

Numerous Holdups and Robberies During Veiled Prophet Parade Reported.

Highwaymen and burglars working last night in various parts of the city kept policemen busy making reports. The beat patrol in the residence sections had been reduced to a minimum so that as many policemen as were available could be detailed to the Veiled Prophet parade and ball.

Rolla Brady, 3320 Pine street, a taxicab chauffeur, reported that at 2 a. m. he was summoned to Delmar boulevard and De Balive street, where a man directed him to drive to the 7100 block in Lindell drive. When they reached that point another man got out of a parked automobile. He and the taxi "fare" then drew revolvers and took $20 from Brady, after which they escaped in the auto.

William E. Thompson, 1385 Blackstone avenue, reported a similar experience at 1:35 a. m. He told the police he was called to Grand boulevard and Park avenue, where a man ordered him to drive to the 1700 block in Ohio avenue. Two men were waiting there in an automobile and the three robbers Thompson of $19 and drove away in the auto.

John Fleming of 5223 Cote Brillante avenue was robbed of his automobile by three men at Florissant and Mary avenues at 12:30 a. m.

A man with a revolver jumped on the running board of the automobile driven by Jean Gable of 6117 Louisiana avenue, at Morganford road and Neosho street at 12:45 a. m., and took $8 from Gable. A woman who was riding with Gable was not molested.

Don Mullery, 2755 Accomac street, and Miss Jennie Letner, 2031 Russell avenue, were held up in Mullery's automobile at Tower Grove and Magnolia avenues by two men at 11:15 p. m. The robbers jumped on the running board, ordered Mullery to drive to the Gurney Court subdivision two blocks away and there robbed him of $4.

Max Mazur of San Antonio, Tex., told the police that a man and woman entered his room on the seventh floor of the Marquette Hotel at 5:30 p. m., and that the woman accused him of having $50 belonging to her. Her companion threatened to have him arrested. Rather than have a scene, he said, he took $103 from his pocket, intending to give the couple $50, but the rian snatched the entire roll and ran away, followed by the woman.

For the second time in three weeks, safe robbers last night got into the office of the Central Hardware Co., 811 North Sixth street, and members of the firm later told the police that about $1000 had been stolen. Following the first robbery, Sept. 17, when the burglars got $45, the firm took out burglary insurance. The policy was delivered yesterday.

Safe robbers also looted the office of the Noser-Borrowman Lumber Co., 21 St. Louis avenue. They smashed the safe, damaging it about $75, and got only $8. Forty bolts of cloth, valued by the owner at $1000, and clothing valued at $100 were stolen in a burglary at the tailor shop of Morris Heisler, 2822 Lafayette avenue. In their flight the burglars dropped six of the bolts in the alley behind the shop.

Clothing and jewelry valued at $850 were stolen in burglaries at the home of Santino Cedoni, 5233 Botanical avenue; Morris Rosenthal, 4933 West Pine boulevard; Eugene Good, 1111 Hamilton avenue; Mrs. Emma Melton, 1386 Hodiament avenue, and Dr. Lyman M. Ray, 6193 Westminster place.

Three persons reported being robbed by pickpockets while watching the Veiled Prophet parade. Robert Dugan, 313 Fillmore street, reported he was robbed of a purse and $75 at Jefferson avenue and Market street; William E. Eldridge, of 1371 Delmar boulevard, a purse and $48 and tickets to the air races and railroad transportation, at Twelfth boulevard and Olive street, and H. Ogle Burkett, 5230 Cot Brillante avenue, a purse and $17 at Grand boulevard and Olive street.

Youth Found Bound By Wire. Tells of $2800 Robbery.

Policemen, called to a jewelry store at 1105 Tower Grove avenue at 12:45 a. m. today, after occupants of a flat above had heard repeated knockings on a connecting gas pipe, found Edward McCarty, 18 years old, proprietor, lying on the floor of a rear room, securely bound with radio wire and gagged with a towel. McCarty said that he had been trussed up by two youths after he had been compelled at 11:15 p. m. to open the safe, from which they took $2832 in cash and watches and rings valued at about $2500.

He had returned to the store to turn off the window lights, kept burning in the early evening, he said. The youths followed him in and one wanted to buy a watch. On McCarty's refusal to open the safe at that time of night, the "customer" drew a revolver and made him look the front door. McCarty said he tricked the robbers into flooding the place with light for a moment, by pointing out a wrong switch, when they asked for darkness in the window, but they turned them off at once and used a flashlight to rifle the safe.

After binding him, the holdup men found they couldn't open the rear door. McCarty's bonds were loosened so he could unlock the door, after which he was released. He managed to get his feet close enough to kick the gas pipe.

McCarty said he carried burglary insurance, but did not know if it covered that type of robbery.

CHICAGO INFANT MORTALITY RATE CONSIDERABLY REDUCED

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Chicago is four times as safe for babies as it was seven years ago, according to a report of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago.

The death rate of one and thirty-nine one hundredths of 1 per cent for August among the babies cared for by the society in 1916, was reduced to thirty-five one hundredths of 1 per cent among 6315 babies and children cared for by the organization at its 27 stations this year, said the report.

Nurses and dietitians with the society made 8735 visits this year giving advice to mothers in the poorer districts as to proper methods of preparing food, dressing, bathing and other details of infant and child care.

Gain in Disciples of Christ Churches.
By the Associated Press.

GIBSON CITY, Ill., Oct. 2.—An average of one new church a week has been dedicated by the Disciples of Christ in Illinois in the past year, State Secretary H. H. Peters of Bloomington, reported today at the State convention of the church in session here.

Judges Ignore Committee Choice.

The Circuit Judges did not follow a recommendation of the Republican City Committee in filling a vacancy for Deputy Jury Commissioner. Chairman Becker sent word the committee had endorsed Frank Slupsky of the Fifth Ward but the Judges appointed William Thomas a brother of J. B. Thomas, former Supply Commissioner. There were eight applicants for the position, which pays $195 a month. Emil Thomas, another brother of the former Supply Commissioner, was appointed a Deputy Sheriff. This appointment was made by Sheriff Strodtman and confirmed by the Circuit Judges.

15 Men Hurt in Explosion.

By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2.—Fifteen workmen in the Burlington shops at Havelock were injured, some of them seriously, in an acetylene gas explosion late yesterday. Most of the injured suffered broken legs and arms. They were rushed to Lincoln hospitals. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Michigan Episcopalians Elect Bishop.

By the Associated Press.

THIS IS WOLFF'S GREATER STORE FOR MEN

AT WASHINGTON & BROADWAY

Opening Monday, October 8

YOU'RE going to like the appearance of this remodeled and greatly enlarged store of ours

But a good store needs more than that; there must be something back of appearances if there's anything in it for you

We started this business fifteen years ago with a big idea; the idea that we could do best for ourselves by doing best for our customers

We've been busy ever since trying to get room enough and to make our store big enough to take care of our idea

It's the kind of service St. Louis men want Our growth testifies to that

Fifteen years ago we occupied a 25-foot room on the ground floor, with a 50-foot room above

Three years later we had to double that space

Ten years later we had to double it again

Today we've had to go through the same process, so we're now eight times larger than we were at the start

Serving your interests pays all of us

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 3.—Censorship of motion pictures is dangerous to the freedom of speech and the press, declares a report submitted to the tenth annual convention of the International Labor Congress of America, by its president, Matthew Woll.

"We are fast approaching the older European methods of repression," said the report. "Slowly but surely freedom of speech and of the press and assemblage are being converted into licenses subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be imposed by a political board of censorship."

"The thing to do is to uproot the idea of censorship in any and all forms from our American soil."

Pardon for Mooney Asked For.
Gov. Friend W. Richardson of California is asked for in a resolution submitted to the convention of the American Federation of Labor today by the International Molders' Union of North America, which asked the convention to reaffirm a resolution to that effect adopted by the molders in convention at Cleveland.

The resolution declared "faith in the fairness and love of justice of the people of California" to "right the wrong done to" Mooney, and to "vindicate the popular verdict of popular opinion" in his innocence.

Porto Rico yesterday asked the convention of the American Federation of Labor for the aid of American labor in the effort of the island to obtain political self-control.

Santiago Iglesias, delegate of the Free Federation of Working Men of Porto Rico, introduced a resolution.

Greeting From Great Britain.
Greetings to the American federation from organized labor of Great Britain were delivered today by W. A. Robinson, M. P., and R. B. Walker, general secretary of the Union of Agricultural Workers of England, and James A. Sullivan of Hamilton, Ontario, brought a fraternal message from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Development of the labor movement and its activities in politics formed the subject of the address of Robinson, and Walker spoke of results achieved by British labor organizations.

Organized labor of Canada has been successful in obtaining measures beneficial to the wage workers, including a minimum wage law, a compensation act and mothers' allowance, said Sullivan.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Successful completion of the recent five-day test in the transcontinental air mail service was possible, in the opinion of officials of the Postoffice Department only because of the extreme care taken to keep mail planes in perfect condition.

Each of the 70 air mail ships is inspected daily in the most minute detail. As a ship is brought in from flight a tabulated sheet is attached on which there are noted more than 100 points to be inspected. As each part is inspected, and repaired if necessary, the mechanics affix their signatures and the report is not complete until signed by a chief mechanic and accepted by the pilot of the plane. Since the inauguration of this system, the number of fatalities in the service has decreased greatly.

Strict orders against "stunt" flying while testing out new planes, have made for fewer accidents, as did the scrapping of a defective type of ship in use in 1920. Fatal accidents by years were: 1918, one; 1919, five; 1920, fifteen; 1921, nine; 1922, one; and 1923 (first eight months), three.

The rating for over a million and a half scheduled miles of flying during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, was 96.73 per cent perfect and the score was prevented from being perfect only by two minutes tardiness by one pilot in unloading his mail bags. The air mail service, at no time in its five years' experience has developed a rating of less than 78.04 per cent, that for 1920.

By the Associated Press.
PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., Oct. 3.—The Colorado River surveyors emerged unharmed yesterday from the flood-swept gorges of the Grand Canyon in which they had been isolated since Sept. 14 during their navigation of the uncharted river.

The 10 members of the party, who were delayed four days in their scheduled arrival at Diamond Creek, escaped the flood by climbing through a crevice in the canyon wall to high ground. From a precipice they saw a wall of water sweep through the canyon.

Gov. Friend W. Richardson of California is asked for in a resolution submitted to the convention of the American Federation of Labor today by the International Molders' Union of North America, which asked the convention to reaffirm a resolution to that effect adopted by the molders in convention at Cleveland.

The resolution declared "faith in the fairness and love of justice of the people of California" to "right the wrong done to" Mooney, and to "vindicate the popular verdict of popular opinion" in his innocence.

Porto Rico yesterday asked the convention of the American Federation of Labor for the aid of American labor in the effort of the island to obtain political self-control.

Santiago Iglesias, delegate of the Free Federation of Working Men of Porto Rico, introduced a resolution.

Greeting From Great Britain.
Greetings to the American federation from organized labor of Great Britain were delivered today by W. A. Robinson, M. P., and R. B. Walker, general secretary of the Union of Agricultural Workers of England, and James A. Sullivan of Hamilton, Ontario, brought a fraternal message from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Development of the labor movement and its activities in politics formed the subject of the address of Robinson, and Walker spoke of results achieved by British labor organizations.

Organized labor of Canada has been successful in obtaining measures beneficial to the wage workers, including a minimum wage law, a compensation act and mothers' allowance, said Sullivan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Successful completion of the recent five-day test in the transcontinental air mail service was possible, in the opinion of officials of the Postoffice Department only because of the extreme care taken to keep mail planes in perfect condition.

Each of the 70 air mail ships is inspected daily in the most minute detail. As a ship is brought in from flight a tabulated sheet is attached on which there are noted more than 100 points to be inspected. As each part is inspected, and repaired if necessary, the mechanics affix their signatures and the report is not complete until signed by a chief mechanic and accepted by the pilot of the plane. Since the inauguration of this system, the number of fatalities in the service has decreased greatly.

Strict orders against "stunt" flying while testing out new planes, have made for fewer accidents, as did the scrapping of a defective type of ship in use in 1920. Fatal accidents by years were: 1918, one; 1919, five; 1920, fifteen; 1921, nine; 1922, one; and 1923 (first eight months), three.

The rating for over a million and a half scheduled miles of flying during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, was 96.73 per cent perfect and the score was prevented from being perfect only by two minutes tardiness by one pilot in unloading his mail bags. The air mail service, at no time in its five years' experience has developed a rating of less than 78.04 per cent, that for 1920.

PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., Oct. 3.—The Colorado River surveyors emerged unharmed yesterday from the flood-swept gorges of the Grand Canyon in which they had been isolated since Sept. 14 during their navigation of the uncharted river.

The 10 members of the party, who were delayed four days in their scheduled arrival at Diamond Creek, escaped the flood by climbing through a crevice in the canyon wall to high ground. From a precipice they saw a wall of water sweep through the canyon.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 3.—Censorship of motion pictures is dangerous to the freedom of speech and the press, declares a report submitted to the tenth annual convention of the International Labor Congress of America, by its president, Matthew Woll.

"We are fast approaching the older European methods of repression," said the report. "Slowly but surely freedom of speech and of the press and assemblage are being converted into licenses subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be imposed by a political board of censorship."

"The thing to do is to uproot the idea of censorship in any and all forms from our American soil."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

HEADACHES! SIGN
POSTS OF DANGEROUS CONDITIONS

Headaches are generally symptoms of more dangerous troubles. They often mean that the blood pressure is high to a degree that might prove fatal. Beware of them, especially if accompanied by occasional dizzy spells, labored breathing, offensive breath or general weakness, ringing in ears.

However, since the discovery of Bi-lin, high blood pressure can be overcome, for it successfully reaches the cause. It helps Nature herself to reduce the high blood pressure by thoroughly cleaning out the poisons which have caused the heart to overtax itself in its efforts to overcome their harmful effects.

Such remarkable results were reported even in obstinate and long-standing cases, that it was decided to put up Bi-lin in convenient tablet form. Get it today and see how rapidly your distress vanishes and a wonderful new feeling of power and vigor arrives. Sold by all good druggists, such as Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge and Dolph, Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co.

Make a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really Better Than Ready-Made Cough Syrup, and Saves About $2. Easily and Quickly Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and excretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way, and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calomel powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads with it for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to find that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

INDIANA REPUBLICAN SPLIT
SEEN OVER M'CRAV DIFFICULTIES

Goodrich Denies Coolidge Has Anything to Do With the Governor's Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—Differences between State Republican leaders resulting from the inquiry into Gov. McCray's financial affairs by the Republican State Committee, led yesterday by a statement by John Moorman, who denounced the investigation as a political move instigated by President Coolidge and ex-Gov. James P. Goodrich. Goodrich denied Moorman's charge with the added assertion that the Governor had been accused of a serious offense.

Moorman, who is Gov. McCray's political adviser, declared the meeting had been ordered by the President on representation of Goodrich that McCray's failure as a farmer would seriously hamper the prospects of the Republican party among the farmer voters.

Goodrich termed the statement of Moorman as "absolutely false." The charges had been made by responsible men, thoroughly familiar with the executive's affairs, that the Governor had been guilty of actions involving most serious consequences. When these charges were presented to the State Committee the meeting was called and the entire situation put before the members, Goodrich said. He characterized the statement of Moorman as an attempt to throw dust into the eyes of the people of the State. Postmaster-General Harry S. New, who attended that State Committee meeting was indignant that the name of the President should be linked with the trouble in Indiana.

MAN WHO POSED AS WIFE SOBS
AS HE DENIES MURDER CHARGE

Abandoned Male Attire at Age of 14, Says Fred Thompson, Alias "Mrs. Carrick."

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Fred Thompson, alias "Mrs. Frances Carrick," the mystery man who posed as a wife, charged with the murder of Richard Tesmer in a holdup, took the stand in his own defense today and denied the charge. He spoke in low tones a woman might use, nervously clasped his hands, sobbed, and told of his double life.

The defense insisted that Thompson is a woman, but on the stand in answer to a question as to his name, he replied after a moment's hesitation:

"My name is Fred G. Thompson." He added that he had used the names of Frances Carrick and Fay Holmes. He was born in Columbus, O., he said, and lived there until he was 13 years old.

"I was naturally a very quiet child," he said. "I wore boys' clothing but I always wanted to wear a woman's clothes because I felt easier."

When he was 14 years old, he said, he came to Chicago and abandoned male attire. He said he first worked as a chambermaid and later because of his high soprano voice, became a cabaret singer for a time. "Once I tried again to be a boy and put on male clothing," he testified. "The men would not believe me and told me to go home and put on proper clothes and not try to masquerade."

INDICTMENT SUSTAINED DESPITE TWO TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS

Judge Grimm Refuses to Quash Action Against Two Men Charged With Drug Store Holdup.

Two typographical errors in an indictment charging robbery in the first degree do not constitute valid grounds for granting a motion to quash, Circuit Judge Grimm ruled today in the case of Edward Weitholter, 933 Wright street, charged with having held up a drug store at Kingsbury and Delabriere avenues Jan. 18 last, and taking $150 from the cashier.

Weitholter was jointly indicted with Theodore Werner, who gave his address as the Delmonte Hotel. The former took a severance this morning and the State elected to try him first. Counsel for the defense moved to quash the indictment, alleging substantial error in that the caption on the indictment noted that it had been voted by the December 1922 grand jury when it should have read, the December, 1922 grand jury, which held over through last January.

It was also charged that substantial error resulted because the indictment, reciting the taking of the money, stated that "he" converted it to "his" own use, when it should have read "they" converted it to "their" own use. Judge Grimm consulted several authorities before overruling the motion and forcing Weitholter to trial.

GETS PENSION AFTER 59 YEARS

Negro, 75, Who Enlisted at 16, Given U. S. Warrant for $3320.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Clydes would have difficulty in convincing Alfred Pettis, 75-year-old negro rag picker who lives here of the "ingratitude of the republic."

A treasury warrant for $3220 reached him in today's mail with a note from the Pension Bureau that it represented back pension at the rate of $50 a month. Pettis filed an application for a pension 19 years ago, but failed to follow it up. The Government mills continued to grind, however, the final grant confirming his claim that he enlisted in the Second Colored Infantry at Key West, Fla., in 1864, at the age of 16.

BILL WOULD LET BLIND MEN
SELL CIGARS IN CITY BUILDINGS

Measure Drafted by Alderman Kralemann to Be Presented to Board Friday.

Operation of cigar stands in corridors on the first floor of the city hall, courthouse and Municipal Courts buildings by blind men under supervision of the Missouri Commission for the Blind, is authorized in a bill which will be presented to the Board of Aldermen Friday by Alderman Kralemann of the Twenty-second Ward, he said today.

Kralemann said the purpose was to find useful employment for at least three blind men. The bill is so drafted as to prohibit any other persons from conducting the stands. The bill limits the space each stand may occupy to 180 square feet and provides for payment to the city of an annual rental of $2.50 a square foot, which is considered a nominal charge.

Several attempts have been made by private individuals to obtain cigar stand concessions in these public buildings, but all were blocked by city officials. Kralemann said that the Commission for the Blind had requested him to interest himself in the matter. He said Mayor Kiel had suggested that introduction of an ordinance was the only method of handling the proposal.

WHISKY PRESCRIPTION

TEST CASE PLANNED

Suit Would Develop Missouri Courts' Attitude Limitation on Physicians.

A suit to test the attitude of Missouri courts towards rulings of the National Prohibition Director, limiting the number of prescriptions for whisky which may be written by physicians for patients, is contemplated by L. Frank Ottofy, an attorney.

He is acting for his brother, Dr. Ladislaw M. Ottofy, and two other St. Louis physicians whose applications for permission to issue emergency prescriptions in excess of their regular quarterly allowances have been denied thus far by L. F. de Hart, State Prohibition Director for Missouri.

Need Whisky for Patient. The physicians desire the additional permits to obtain whisky for a woman patient who has heart disease.

In a letter to the attorney for the physicians, in which he declares he is unable to authorize issuance of additional permits, Prohibition Director de Hart suggests that the patient personally make application for permission to obtain the whisky needed. Such application should be accompanied by affidavits of the three physicians, Dr. Hart said.

In a reply to that letter, Attorney Ottofy calls attention to the fact that the patient is in a state of coma much of the time and at no time is able to do what would be required of her in making the application.

New York Court Decision. The attorney said today that he was preparing to take the matter to court in the event of an adverse ruling by the Prohibition Director. The legality of rulings limiting the number of prescriptions a physician may issue to patients has not been tested in Missouri courts, Ottofy said.

He called attention to a case recently decided in New York in which the court held that the prohibition department has no authority to limit physicians.

The court held that limitation of such use of whisky was not contemplated in the prohibition amendment to the Constitution. It granted an injunction restraining officials from limiting the number of prescriptions issued by a physician.

WIDOW HELPED DETECTIVES TRAP "WOLF OF WALL STREET"

David Lamar Obtains Writ to Fight Expulsion From Mexico to United States.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 3.—Trapped by a widow whose heart he believed he had captured, David Lamar, known as "the Wolf of Wall Street," fell into the hands of American detectives here who had been pursuing him for some time in an endeavor to take him back to the United States, there to serve a sentence imposed on him in connection with a stock-market transaction.

After he had been taken into custody, Lamar was ordered expelled from Mexico as a pernicious foreigner, but when he reached Torreon, on the way to El Paso, he obtained a writ of amparo and thereby escaped immediate deliverance into the hands of the United States authorities. The writ of amparo is an appeal against the expulsion order and a hearing on it has been set for Oct. 17.

According to the Mexican secret service, Lamar entered Mexico from the State of New Mexico. Speaking English and French perfectly and quickly acquiring Spanish, Lamar, or Ernest Lamar Lemann, as he called himself, quickly became famous in certain Mexican and foreign circles. He spent money lavishly. The suspicions of local bankers were aroused over deposits made by Lamar and enormous financial deals he attempted to promote. Detectives from Mexico and a New York detective and Mexican secret service operatives got on Lamar's trail. Needing a photograph of Lamar to establish his identity, the police obtained the co-operation of a handsome widow, a member of the American colony, who is said to have pretended to fall in love with the fugitive and to have agreed to elope with him. She obtained the photograph without exciting his suspicion.

NEW YORK OFFICIALS ACCUSED

Charge Made That They Buy Liquor From Stewards of Ships.

(Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Co., The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The charge that New York officials buy liquor from ship stewards was made here yesterday at the trial of John Lloyd, former steward of the Hyson, on a charge of stealing liquor on the vessel.

H. H. Cramer, superintendent of stewards for Alfred Holt & Co., which operates the Hyson, testified Lloyd confessed that he drank part of the missing liquor and "sold part of it in New York."

Cramer added that he knew New York officials got liquor from stewards, but that it was against the company's regulations.

Cowboy, Denied Shame, Kills Barber.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Refusal to shave an impatient customer cost James Fornita, an uptown barber, his life today and resulted in the arrest of Julius Rodriguez, who said he was a Porto Rican cowboy, on a charge of homicide. Rodriguez entered Fornita's shop and put himself in a chair. When recommended to a neighboring shop he continued to shoot up the place, the police said. One bullet killed Fornita, another grazed the cheek of an assistant.

Klan Ignores Mayor's Order.
By The Associated Press.
MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 3.—A meeting of the Ku Klux Klan was held in the city park here last night, despite an order issued by Mayor J. C. Barber that the park would be closed at 6 p. m. and that guards would be stationed there to prevent a meeting. The meeting was held in darkness, as the city had shut off electric power to the park. Those who entered disregarded the notice of the few guards stationed at the park that the park was closed.

When Your Child Complains of So-Called Growing Pains

—perhaps pains in the feet, limbs or back—do not take snap judgment and regard them as so-called growing pains. More than likely the pains are caused by misplaced or fallen bones in the feet. Little wonder, too, when you consider there are twenty-six bones in each foot, any one of which may be easily crowded out of normal position in the foot of a growing child.

Do not neglect—the condition will continue to grow more serious. Bring the child to our Foot Relief Department. Here a foot and shoe specialist will examine the stocking foot and shoes and advise you. There is no obligation.

CONVICTS KILL ONE GUARD, SHOOT FOUR IN FIGHT IN PRISON

Barricade Themselves in Dining Room of Kentucky Penitentiary and Hold Off Officers.

By The Associated Press.
EDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 3.—An attempt to break out of the State prison here was made today when four men, led by Monte Walters, alleged Louisville murderer, who had obtained arms, opened fire on the guards, killing one and wounding four.

The convicts tried to get out the main door, but were deflected and took refuge in the dining room. They were cornered there, but kept up a battle with the 40 guards and townspeople. At noon the fight was still on.

JAPANESE ADVISED TO BUY LUMBER ON OPEN MARKET
Pine Association Tells Hoover It Has No Power to Control Prices.

By The Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 3.—The Southern Pine Association in a telegram today to Secretary Hoover in reply to his request for assurance from the association that prices for Southern yellow pine lumber for use in the Japanese earthquake area be not appreciably advanced over pre-disaster levels, declared the association had nothing to do with lumber prices and could not legally participate in any price-fixing understanding with the Department of Commerce or the Japanese Government.

The association reiterated its offer, made to Ambassador Hanihara in Washington last month, to place all its facilities at the disposal of Japan to assist her in obtaining supplies of Southern pine needed for reconstruction work. Secretary Manager H. C. Berkes stated that he felt confident if Japan would enter the open lumber market in this country she would be able to buy lumber at fair prices and that there would be no disposition on the part of manufacturers to attempt to take advantage of her misfortune.

Secretary Hoover yesterday telegraphed the association that Japan contemplated the purchase of about 250,000,000 feet of lumber for use during the next six months.

"We are desirous that this purchase be made in the American market," he added.

BROKEN GOGGLES MIGHT CAUSE LOSS OF RACE, PILOT DECLARES
"A Fellow Nipper Knows When Some Little Thing Will Go Wrong," Says Lieut. Alford J. Williams.

Those who have frequented St. Louis Field in the last ten days have heard numerous discussions as to the relative merits of pilots and planes as winning factors in an air race, but it was not until yesterday that it was learned that a pair of broken goggles could lose a race. Lieut. Alford J. Williams, Navy pilot, discovered yesterday after climbing from a plane that a small swivel connecting the nose bridge of the goggles had snapped when he removed the goggles after the flight. A search was made for the missing part but it could not be found. "It is just little things like this that worry me," Lieut. Williams said. "I have confidence in my plane and in myself, but a fellow never knows when some little thing will go wrong to lose a race for him. To have that happen in the race Saturday would probably mean the losing of the race if I happened to have a chance at victory when it happened." A navy mechanic was consulted and upon his decision that the goggles could be repaired they were turned over to him for an overhauling.

CHAUFFEUR CRANKING TRUCK IS CRUSHED IN COLLISION

Two-Year-Old Boy in Baby Buggy Among Many Hurt in Violent Accident.

Jerry Le Beau, 42, of 1847 Biddle street, a chauffeur for an ice cream company, was cranking a truck at Twenty-second street and Washington avenue at 6 p. m. yesterday, when the truck was struck by an automobile turning into a filling station. Le Beau was crushed between his truck and one parked in front of it. He suffered a fractured skull and serious internal injuries.

Others injured yesterday and last night in motor vehicle accidents were Mrs. Pasquina Ricciardi of 6110 Cote Brillante avenue and her son, Caesar, 2 years old, both cut and bruised when a baby buggy, in which the child was being hauled, was struck by an automobile at Eastern and Hodiamont avenues; Jesse Groves Jr., 14, 2523 South Seventh street, fractured skull, when knocked down by an automobile on Seventh; near Sidney street; Fred Cimner, 14, 5069 Geraldine avenue, lacerations of head and body in being knocked down by an automobile at Page and Academy avenues; Adelle Stevenson, 11, 4185 Manchester avenue, slightly cut and bruised in being knocked down by an automobile; and William G. Gilster, 41, 7524 Rankin avenue, internal hurts and cuts and bruises when his automobile was overturned in collision with another machine at Lindell and Union boulevards.

U. R. Employee Dies of Injuries Suffered in Accident.

James Killoren, 50 years old, of 1524 Pendleton avenue, a workman for the United Railways Co., died at city hospital yesterday afternoon from injuries suffered shortly before noon, when struck by a motor truck in front of 2735 Cass avenue. He was seated on a pile of stone paving blocks, which had been removed from between the tracks, and was chipping them with a hammer, when a truck of the Union Ice and Fuel Co., driven by Spencer Renja, a negro, of 4225 Cozens avenue, came west on the north side of the street. The truck struck a loose paving block, was swung against a telephone pole, and then swerved back, hitting Killoren. His legs were fractured and he was injured internally.

DISINTEGRATION OF THE U. R. UNLIKELY, FINANCIERS ASSERT

Interested Groups Figure That It Will Not Be Permitted by Federal Court and State Service Body.

LITTLE HOPE OF REORGANIZATION SOON

Conference Next Week on Preliminary Steps in Working Out Plan of Procedure Expected.

Financial interests in St. Louis, which represent holders or are holders of United Railways securities, and this includes nearly all the banking groups in the city, expect a conference some time next week looking to preliminary steps toward a reorganization of the railway company to take it out of the hands of the receiver. There is not now under consideration any definite plan of reorganization.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the United Railways will be next Tuesday, and it is anticipated that at that time steps will be taken for calling a conference of various bankers interested.

Financiers interviewed yesterday are not sanguine that there will be an immediate reorganization. They see many difficulties in the way, and apparently the jockeying of the various interests for advantage in the final settlement plan.

Disintegration Not Expected.

It was said by nearly all the bankers who would discuss the matter that they have not the slightest idea that there would be a disintegration of the present system, which includes all of the street car lines in the city and St. Louis County, or that the Federal Court or the Public Service Commission would permit any break-up of the system which would do away with transfer from one line to another or which would necessitate the paying of two fares between one point in the city and another point.

The view of one of the larger and more powerful banking interests is that it will be impossible to accomplish a reorganization without the granting of a new franchise by the city. This authority placed the amount of cash which would be required in a reorganization at $25,000,000 and $24,000,000, and said the money needed could not possibly be obtained on the present franchise.

"The franchise expires in about 15 years," he said, "and nobody is going to invest millions of dollars in a public utility of such short life. If the money is to be obtained there must be a new franchise which will offer some guarantee of sufficient length of life to make possible a return of the investment."

Total of Obligations.

In a reorganization of the company obligations approximately $75,000,000 must be taken care of. Exclusive of the company stock, which undoubtedly would be wiped out in any reorganization plan. The obligations include bonds to the amount of $50,000,000, preferred stock to the amount of $16,383,000, receivers certificates to the amount of $4,000,000, a mill tax judgment of $2,396,321.92, and current obligations of possibly $1,000,000. The common stock outstanding is $41,295,000.

The financial situation of the United Railways is this:

Receiver's certificates to a total of $4,000,000 authorized last week by United States District Judge Park to take up certificates of a similar amount, which become due yesterday. In a reorganization these certificates undoubtedly would have to be paid in cash. They are to run for a period of three years at 6 per cent interest, with the privilege to the receiver to call them at the end of any six months period. They were purchased by a syndicate which includes the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, First National Co. of St. Louis, William R. Compton Co. of St. Louis, Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis, Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis, Francis Bro. & Co. of St. Louis, and Mercantile Trust and Deposit Co. of Baltimore. They were taken at $4.76 per cent.

Underlying Bonds.

Underlying bonds to the amount of $4,100,000, which come next after the receiver's certificates. These include $1,640,000 of Cass Avenue and Fairgrounds Railway 6 per cent bonds; $588,000 Compton Heights, Union Depot, Merchants Terminal Railroad 6 per cent bonds, and $1,474,000 Lindell Railway 8 per cent bonds. All these defaulted Monday when Judge Farris refused to renew them.

The Lindell and Cass Avenue bonds belong to the North American Co., which underwrote them two years ago, and which, it is understood, will insist upon payment in cash in a reorganization. The Compton Heights are represented by a syndicate, largely local, including the

Rum Runner Describes Arrival of Liquor Ship Off New York Harbor

Life on "Rum Row"—Former Saloonkeeper Plays Supercargo—Nothing to Fear from Revenue Cutters Despite Bright Lights.

THE "rum running" vessels which hang outside the three-mile limit off the Atlantic Coast, selling liquor to be smuggled into this country, have received world-wide attention, but thus far little has been told from the inside of their actual operations.

The Post-Dispatch, in conjunction with the Manchester Guardian, is now able to give in a series of articles, the complete narrative of a member of the crew of a ship engaged in this trade for five months off the American coast. The writer describes in detail the organization and methods by which the trade is carried on, the devices of the smugglers, life on board ship, the types of men who are their outside customers, and the big men in the background.

Conditions on "Rum Row," where the ships are moored, the methods of the "pirates" who prey upon the rum ships, the adventures of the launches and tugs that bring the drink ashore, are also related. The writer is a seaman of wide experience in the mercantile marine.

CHAPTER II. ARRIVAL AT RUM ROW.

By One of the Crew.

Our children were very sad. He had been looking for us all the previous night when it was blowing a moderate gale from the northwest, and a small tugboat is an uncomfortable place for a landsman.

"Gee—but I'm glad to get my feet on something that doesn't rock like the rattle dazle on Coney Island," he remarked when the tug was fast on our lee quarter and he had stepped on board. "Get No. 2 hatches off and let's have some of that champagne up. Guess the boys will enjoy it."

"We ought to do a good business, Captain. There aren't many ships with rye here. Christmas will be on us in a couple of days. Don't let a case go over the side under $50, Jack."

This is one of the two men who had followed him into the cabin. I must describe these two men, as it is to them that I owe most of my knowledge of rum running.

Both of them were on board to help the skipper, especially on the outside trade. We expected to do quite a lot of this. They were there principally to see that the money paid was good, as there was a lot of phony money about, and that the men who bought the liquor were of a type to keep quiet about it. No one was to talk to the press, but it was better to keep it quiet as long as possible.

A New York Saloon Keeper.

The elder of the two, a stout man of about 40, owned at one time a saloon in New York. The Eighteenth Amendment put him entirely out of business. The dispensing of ice cream sodas and nut sundae did not appeal to his taste so he made a pretty good living acting as a sort of supercargo for the big men who put up the money for rum running. There was little graft to be required in New York that he did not know, and for the laws of the United States he had the greatest scorn.

"You could drive a horse and cart through any of them," he told me once.

He was a native of Scotland but had migrated to America at a very early age and had lost his native pronunciation entirely. His nasal articulation was, however, less pronounced than the average would-be hot American of foreign birth. He was a man who knew and had seen much of New York and Chicago, and a better man for the job.

He would drink wine occasionally, but like all the rum runners who made money, never touched spirits.

Kept Watch on the Crew.

The second man was of an entirely different type. He was very innocent and suspicious of every one. His use on board I was never able to determine. I think he was a sort of watchman over the cargo, to see that the ship's company didn't drink too much. Mr. R. probably had rum there because he would trust no one. There may be honor among thieves, but I doubt if Mr. R. believed there was any among rum runners or bootleggers.

However, he appeared to help Jack, and when I found out that there were just a ship's company of decent British seamen, he lost most of his suspicions and became quite like a human being. The crew were mainly Scotch and I think his mother tongue was pleasing to his ear. Once he said to me: "Say, that fat guy talks just like me neither us'er."

The "fat guy" referred to was one of the firemen who hailed from Dumfries. I told him this, and asked him if his mother came from there. "Ye-es," he replied, "some-where like that. She's dead." I could get him to say no more.

I asked Jack about him once and he replied: "Well, he's in the game, and I guess this is a pretty good place to keep away from the bulls." Bulls, I suppose, means policemen.

Shining Mark for Bootleggers.

We were considered one of the sights; and all the large passenger boats bound south passed through the anchored rum runners so that the passengers could have a good look at them. Our charterer had supplied us with very powerful electric lights, which on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, could be seen from the Navesink Highland.

"His idea was of course to make us a good mark for the bootleggers to find at night. They were much more useful from a seaman's point of view than that. They helped us to be easily seen in fog by vessels making New York from the southeast. In passing I must say that the Bermuda boats didn't use us as a light-ship."

We used to joke about it and say we would send in a light bill to Furness Withy and the Royal Mail. We were prone to joke about any thing, and in passing I must say that sometimes to keep from being depressed, especially when the weather was very bad. Our lights were also a godsend to the many rum running schooners getting back to their anchorage at night after having been forced to beat off shore in the worst-ly gales.

One might think it was foolish to draw attention to ourselves by exhibiting those powerful lights, but the passengers could have a good look at them. Our charterer had supplied us with very powerful electric lights, which on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, could be seen from the Navesink Highland.

HARVEY ABOUT TO RESIGN; SEVERAL SEEKING HIS POST

Ambassador Will Send in Resignation as Soon as Successor Is Chosen—Decision Purely Voluntary.

BY CHARLES G. ROSS.

Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—President Coolidge will soon be confronted with the necessity of picking a new Ambassador to Great Britain, Col. George Harvey, it is learned here, has definitely made up his mind to leave the post and will send in his formal resignation as soon as his successor has been chosen.

Col. Harvey, according to persons to whom he confided his plans while on his recent visit in this country, had hoped to retire to private life by the first of next month. It is now regarded as probable that he will remain in London a while longer, but not much if any beyond the first of the new year.

Decision Purely Voluntary.

The decision of the Ambassador to retire is understood here to be purely voluntary. He had told President Harding of the financial straits he was in, and the office and expressed his desire to be relieved. If Mr. Harding had not died, his friends say, he would have insisted upon an early acceptance of his resignation. He went back to London at the request of President Coolidge, but on the understanding that he would stay in office only a short time.

What Harvey intends to do on his return to the United States has not been disclosed. Though there is scant foundation for various rumors that he will take charge of Coolidge's campaign for the presidential nomination, it is probable that he will be found working vigorously for the President.

No Scarcity of Aspirants.

There is no scarcity of aspirants to the London post. Some of those who are understood to be under consideration are John Hays Hammond, millionaire mining engineer, who has just completed his work as head of the fact-finding coaly commission; Frank A. Munsey, New York publisher; Charles B. Warren, former Ambassador to Japan and a member of the commission that worked out a settlement of the Mexican recognition problem, and Henry P. Fletcher, former Under Secretary of State and now Ambassador to Belgium.

A change may also be made in the ambassadorship to Italy, now held by Richard Washburn Child. On account of private business, it is understood that he has desired for several months to give up the post at Rome. Child is expected to be in this country soon on leave of absence.

SOLDIERS' HOMES TO BE OPENED TO FORMER SERVICE WOMEN

Special Facilities to Be Provided for Them at Selected Points.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Former service women are to be admitted to soldiers' homes.

The War Department has announced the action of the board of managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers in having decided to provide separate facilities for women at selected points. Religious services, entertainments and recreational and educational opportunities at the home will be extended to the women.

Tuberculosis cases will be accommodated at the Milwaukee home and other cases at Danville, Ill.

Declaring it was desirable to find out as soon as practical the number of women who might desire to enter the homes, the announcement said, the only indication at this time lay in the disability claims received at the Veterans' Bureau. On this basis, it was estimated that about 450 women would seek admission to institutions where medical or other care could be provided.

During investigation of disability claims, it was disclosed that "but 4 per cent of the women enlisted in the war presented disability claims, whereas more than 13 per cent of the men did so."

The statement said that a search of 375,000 disallowed disability claims was necessary to discover the 268 cases of ex-service women of whom there is no definite record.

COOLIDGE FOSTERS CO-OPERATION IN MARKETING WHEAT

Sends Emissaries to Central Northwest Growers to Discuss Associations to Use Government Funds.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Managing Director Meyer and Director Mondell of the War Finance Corporation and a representative of the Department of Agriculture were directed by President Coolidge today to go immediately to the Central Northwest, to discuss with the wheat growers of that section the formation of co-operative marketing associations which may avail themselves of Government funds under the new rural credits act.

The War Finance Corporation of officials and the Department of Agriculture representative are charged with directing the formation of co-operative associations among the wheat growers similar to those which have been operated successfully among the cotton planters and tobacco growers of the South, the raisin growers of California and the fruit raisers of the Pacific Coast.

The plan of the administration contemplates that on organization of these co-operative associations funds which will enable them to market the wheat crop in an orderly manner will be provided by the War Finance Corporation.

The itinerary of Meyer and his party had not been worked out today, but it was said at the White House that visits would be made to Minnesota, the Dakotas and the other wheat-growing states of that section.

ESSINGTON SELECTED TO MAKE RACE AGAINST GOV. SMALL

Process of Self-Elimination Adopted by Six Aspirants for the Republican Nomination.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—State Senator Thurston G. Essington, former Mayor of Streator, Ill., was selected yesterday by the representatives of six avowed or potential Republican candidates for Governor, to oppose Gov. Len Small for the Republican nomination.

The selection was made after more than a score of ballots had been taken by the 12 men sitting in the conference, two representing each of the anti-Small candidates.

The selection of Senator Essington came after an all-day meeting of the representatives of the various candidates and the race was picked by a process of "self-elimination," representatives of the various candidates swinging gradually from their own first choice to him. Those represented at the conference were: former Lieutenant Governor John G. Oglesby, Elkhart; State Senator Otis F. Glenn, Murphysboro; S. S. Tanner, Minier; Attorney General Edward G. Brundage; John H. Harrison, Danville, and Senator Essington, William Boyes and S. S. Jones, of Streator, represented Essington at the conference.

At the start, instead of a million, there were about 25,000 or 30,000 Fascists, but they were then a homogeneous mass, devoted to their dictator, determined to help him achieve himself to power. In this achieved, thanks to the lack of resistance, rather than to their own merits, they attracted large numbers of new adherents, youths and men drawn from all grades of respectability and value, from some of the best to many of the worst.

They began to resolve themselves into their three component parts:

1. The militia, based on the 20,000 who marched on Rome, and were then called Fascist, and nothing more. They at once presented a problem. After they had run riot in Rome for a few days following the famous "march," Mussolini ordered them to disarm them.

This increased the militia's discontent, they did not want to go to humdrum jobs. It soon became necessary to mobilize them and mold them into some sort of discipline. This time they were called by the more dignified name of National Militia. By the end of July 1922, the numbered not 50,000 but 500,000 men.

Hated as Mussolini's Pets.

Their task, according to Mussolini's own statement, is "to be a big political police; to render impossible all disturbance of public peace, all acts of or attempts at sedition against the Fascist Government, and they must be trained in the arts of war so as to supply contingents to the regular army if needed.

The regular army hates them with a most cordial hate, because their task is higher: because they are to be of allegiance to the King, because they are Mussolini's Pretorian Guard, the pets of Fascism and give themselves airs. Timid persons fear they will be terrible menace to public peace if anything should happen to Mussolini or if an unexpected political crisis deprived him of his dictatorship. The possibilities of anarchy are too apparent to need explaining.

For the moment, however, the militia do not worry about politics; and it is to be hoped for the sake of Italy, that they never will. The second element is less devoted to the King, it consists of those who joined Fascism, not because they believed it was going to turn Italy into an earthly paradise for the sake of getting soft jobs, of grabbing local administrative posts for himself and giving to men of fidelity and

Mussolini Secretly Consults Giolitti, Whom He Has Accused of Treachery to His Country

People, Under Fascisti, Described as Refusing to Be Prussianized—Dictator Fails to Progress With His Revolution as He Promised.

In this closing article of the series on Italy under the Fascisti the writer points to the character of the Italian people, who refuse to be Prussianized. They suffer Fascisti violence though they disapprove, he says, for the Fascisti militia is a potent political police force. The timid fear that this half million men and boys will be a terrible menace to public peace if anything should happen to Mussolini or if an unexpected political crisis deprived him of his dictatorship. Mussolini pays long visits to Giolitti, the veteran Premier, so often accused by him of treachery to his country. Now Giolitti has guided Mussolini, though, to the gallery, the Fascisti chief barters with neither man nor party.

BY KAJETAN DUNBAR.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

ROME, Aug. 19.—In preceding articles I have endeavored to point out the political, social and financial state of Italy since Mussolini became dictator—and the conclusion to be drawn therefrom is that he has not "got on with" his revolution, despite strenuous efforts to bring about big changes in the country's condition; to reduce the national debt; to find outlets for the appallingly large population which grows rapidly and inexorably, and to "prussianize" his fellow countrymen.

Mussolini can talk of his revolution, of Fascismo's faith in a bigger Italy; he can, at enormous if necessary cost, maintain a Fascist militia of no less than 500,000 men, at least 300,000 of whom are armed and have military training. In order to leave free the glorious regular army to specialize for the defense of Italy abroad, as he put it at a recent Fascist Council Conference—he can and does do all these things. But life in Italy remains the same, except that there is less prosperity and more discontent—for he has not been able to redeem his promises.

This state of inertia may be accounted for to a great extent by the character of the Italian people. This country never seems able to carry out any political change or any action to its logical conclusion; above all, its inhabitants refuse to be prussianized. They suffer Fascist violence, though they disapprove; but they never will become one of those herds like, for instance, the bulk of the German nation up to and through the World War.

Mussolini's Million Men.

But another reason why this revolution of Mussolini's cannot find its outlet is that the Italian people are slowly but surely isolating Mussolini from themselves, from the very party he has created. For the first is nothing but a mercenary horde, formed to keep him secure in his post. The second, of low moral caliber, are the Fascist movement and has all ready done more harm than good. The third element, his best henchmen in earlier days, see Mussolini's thoughts are not theirs and hold aloof from him more and more, silent sullen onlookers at the game their once adored chief is playing.

Mussolini Consults Giolitti.

Mussolini means to keep his hand on the helm; and he looks about for collaboration; today with the liberals and so-called democrats, tomorrow with labor hordes of its red and its program of class-war.

At night, secretly, Mussolini pays long visits to that veteran Premier, Giolitti, the man he so often has accused of treachery to his country and attacked as a "Hun" during the war.

Now, Giolitti has given advice to the Dictator, guiding him through the intricate paths of parliamentary intrigue, though, to the gallery, the great Fascist Chief barters with neither man nor party.

But Mussolini, though he may hold out the olive branch to labor and seek counsel of Giolitti, also has made concessions to the conservative element. His abolition of death duty, his increase of war pensions, his revocation of State control over landlords, his pruning of the Eight Hour act, prove this.

If Mussolini manages to absorb the elements of country and Chamber, he will have achieved, almost singlehanded, a formidable task, for he will have made Fascismo, in spite of its flagrant illiberalism, a legal and constitutional thing, grafting it into the very fiber of political and social life, where it will form a notable landmark in his country's political development and will gradually attract to itself some of the more democratic elements. Then the dross, the adventurers, will fall away, leaving the Dictator Mussolini one of the outstanding figures of his country's history.

But will Mussolini have time? Will he escape the probable consequences of his assaults on liberty—on the individual, on the press, on the law? Will he escape the extremists of his own who have a leaning toward this kind of violence.

It is impossible to answer these questions. But in Italy, the land of political surprises, unexpected things always does happen. Perhaps Mussolini's dictatorship will survive long enough for the Italian people to acquire a minimum of political education. And that way lies Republicanism.

GOV. PARKER OF LOUISIANA FAVORS PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Asserts Question Is More Important Than Ever and Should Not Be Made Football for Politicians.

SPEAKS AT WESTERN TARIFF CONGRESS

President Coolidge in Message to Meeting Says America Is Nearer National Solidarity on Issue.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 3.—President Coolidge, in a message read at the opening session of the Western Tariff Congress here today, declared "the obvious necessity for maintaining a proper measure of protection to American industry and production in the face of chaotic industrial conditions following the war has unquestionably brought us nearer to a national solidarity on this issue."

The President's message, as made public by officials of the congress, follows:

"My greeting and sincerest good wishes to the Western Tariff Association at the opening of this conference. I have been much pleased to learn of the fine prospect for a representative gathering and the helpful consideration of the subjects that may come before it. I wish it were possible to accept the cordial invitation to be present at the conference, which, to my regret, it is not. I wish to extend to those who will be gathered at this time the assurance of my most sympathetic interest in the vigorous effort they are putting forth to bring about a broad and thorough understanding of the problems involved in the tariff question as it is presented to the country at this time.

Nearer National Solidarity.

"I think it can fairly be said that there has never been a period in our country's history when so little of sectional interest entered into the consideration of this question. The obvious necessity for maintaining a proper measure of protection to American industry and production in the face of chaotic industrial conditions following the war has unquestionably brought us nearer to a national solidarity on this issue."

Discussion of public tariff policies as they affect the progress and prosperity of America today is a broad and thorough understanding of the problems involved in the tariff question as it is presented to the country at this time.

John M. Parker, Governor of Louisiana, a Democrat, addressing the Western Tariff Congress, declared: "The tariff question is more important than ever before in our history and should not be made a football for designing politicians."

He charged that "our law-makers overlook the fact that the greatest assets today in America are our farmers and our farming people," and declared himself in favor of a tariff that will protect the American farmer.

The Governor said in part: "I am a protectionist. I believe in the tariff and that it should be so graduated that those engaged in producing from the soil necessary food products, devoting their sweat, time and energy to the work are entitled to a reasonable profit and a comfortable living. I believe with all my soul that the American man on equal terms can work with anyone, but he cannot possibly compete with those nations who wear practically no clothes, whose wants are very limited, whose only hope are for an existence and who have few ideals."

Estimate of Farmers.

"To my mind, the most valuable possessions of America today are by agriculturalists, the vast majority of whom are law-abiding, God-fearing citizens and in marked contrast to the congested, money-mad population of many of our great cities."

"My experience as a food administrator for Louisiana during the war, especially at a time and period when we rationed in order to save food, convinces me that but for the production of cane sugar in Louisiana and of beet sugar in a number of Western States, we would have gone without this necessary food product."

Extent of Sugar Industry.

"We must remember that this industry gives employment to thousands of people and millions of dollars of capital, a large part of which is expended in the purchase of mules from Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois, of machinery purchased from Pennsylvania and other states, and of wagons, cars and farm utensils purchased from over the Central West, and our labor was the greatest consumer and best customer."

Partiality in Street Cleaning.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I see, in different parts of the city, men sweeping the streets and gutters, and men with teams picking up and hauling away the accumulated dirt and refuse, but there is a street gutter on the south side of Garfield avenue, between Taylor avenue and alley East, that is filled almost to top of curb with filth and mud that has been there all summer.

Some streets are swept and cleaned every day, while others are woefully neglected for months.

I suppose the Health Department inspectors have been busy hunting up and hauling away the accumulated dirt and refuse, but there is a street gutter on the south side of Garfield avenue, between Taylor avenue and alley East, that is filled almost to top of curb with filth and mud that has been there all summer.

OKLAHOMA CAN'T SECEDE.

Oklahoma held a special election yesterday, not a pitched battle. Gov. Walton wisely reconsidered his unwise intention to prevent the election by armed force. The Governor, to be sure, characterizes the referendum as a "pretended election" and declares it will be null and void because illegally called. As against that personal judgment, however, is the legal and official opinion of the Supreme Court and the Attorney-General of the State.

The Governor made a grave tactical blunder in announcing he would prevent the election. Conceding all his allegations to be true—that the proposition before the people of enabling the Legislature to convene on its own motion, without a call from the Governor, was a Ku Klux Klan scheme to unseat him, and that the majority of the Legislature are klansmen—nevertheless, the right of the people to vote on a properly submitted constitutional amendment is unquestionable. And the responsibility for the result of the election will be upon the people.

That there is serious, determined opposition to the Governor in the Legislature has been abundantly evidenced in the news from Oklahoma. The popular resentment has been demonstrated in the overwhelming rebuke at the polls. Vested now with authority to convene in extraordinary session on its own motion, it seems certain that the Legislature will institute impeachment proceedings. But if conviction and removal from office follow, as seems probable, the people of Oklahoma will still have the problem of the Ku Klux Klan to deal with. The official exit of Gov. Walton will possibly aggravate rather than allay the Klan menace. The defective intelligence of the Klan will be sure to construe the Governor's defeat as a Klan triumph and an endorsement of the Klan's hideous practices, and will be encouraged, even incited, to greater and more dreadful activities.

Such interpretation of public sentiment cannot stand. The people of Oklahoma cannot legalize the Ku Klux Klan, or any other lawless conspiracy. They cannot do it and remain in the Union. If they wish to set up an invisible empire, a government of masked terrorism, they must first secede from the United States. We do not for a moment imagine that the people of Oklahoma approve the Klan's outrages or desire to substitute such unseemable tyranny for a government of law and order. But in Oklahoma the Klan is an intolerable condition, not a theory, which the passing of a Governor will not solve.

Whatever happens to Walton, getting rid of the Klan is the one big obligation confronting the people of Oklahoma. If they don't or can't get rid of it the Federal Government will. It is not within the compass of the people of any state to suspend the bill of rights.

ROMANTIC ST. LOUIS.

Yesterday, Velled Prophet Day, was another of those annual occasions when St. Louis shows that romance, chivalry, colorfulness, artistry, are all as much alive here as of old, before the city had become the big business metropolis of the Mississippi Valley. Never was such a spectacle of splendor and brilliance. Never were the attending throngs more numerous or more enthusiastic. Order and good will and gaiety prevailed, and, with ideal weather, and the city was its best. The large number of visiting Army, Navy, commercial and other airmen and officials added greatly to the ensemble, especially at the Velled Prophet's ball, which went off with a most satisfactory eclat.

It is well that once a year St. Louis should lose itself in this return to the youthfulness that inspires such an event. It is incidental that business is helped by what used to be known as Fair Week, one of whose principal happenings was the gorgeous entry of "the great Mokanna," our gala prophet who so wonderfully secretes himself all the rest of the year. We resent the implication that business is at the bottom of our annual Mardi Gras. It is St. Louis' spirit of fun, fun and folly if you will, that breaks out and will have its way on these occasions. We want to be gay, and we are gay.

And how we rejoice that this year our Fair Week will be filled out and rounded to perfection by the world-renowned Air Races, to which all our Velled Prophet visitors are cordially invited. The year 1923 is doubly to be blessed, as far as St. Louis is concerned, and its October festivities are likely to be remembered while life lasts.

Gov. Pinchot is putting the Philadelphia saloons out of business, but this doesn't necessarily mean the corkcrews.

IS IT MUCH WONDER PRESIDENT COOLIDGE IS SILENT?

THE POSTPONED AIR RACES.

Beginning tomorrow, and continuing Friday and Saturday, the postponed air races will be carried out on the original schedule. Nothing will be missed, and the delay will tend to make the events even more successful, due to extended preparation. The great spectacle promised St. Louis and her visitors, planned and carried out with a lavish expenditure of time, money and effort, will amply repay the devotion and patience of all concerned.

It was no one's fault that the races had to be postponed. Everything that man could do had been done to complete the plans. But the season has been an unusual one, and with a new field, unseasonable rains brought about a dangerous condition of the ground. The recent sad experience at the International Balloon race, when five lives were lost because of unexpected bad weather, more than justified the postponement of the St. Louis races, in which the rule of "safety first" must be the first consideration.

Everything points now to favorable weather and final success for the entire program. Every contestant in the races is on tiptoe with enthusiasm and "rarin' to go." It remains for the people of St. Louis and the general public to show that they are not discouraged but fully approve the action of the race management. Whether the air races repay the cost of preparation or not, St. Louis has been definitely put on the air map. She has been made the center of aviation in the United States—a position of prestige, profit and great possibilities. It is up to St. Louisans to see that these citizens who have done the work, and the various competitors in the races, shall not be disappointed on account of a lack of appreciation of their efforts.

TOLERANCE IN EDUCATION.

Certain leaders of the Disciples of Christ Church are to found a college in Louisville uncompromisingly committed to the Bible as "infallible and final" to train preachers, missionaries and church workers to combat "the destructive skepticism which now operates chiefly in the name of so-called evolution."

Such an effort, we are sure, will not be criticized even by the evolutionists. Least of all will the believers of the opposite faith attempt to suppress such a college. Evolutionists ask nothing but to be let alone. By such evangelists as Mr. Bryan in states of notably low educational standing they have not been let alone. Every man is entitled to his faith and teaching, and this should apply both ways—to evolutionist and antievolutionist.

Oklahoma is noted for its oil and for its troubled waters, too.

THE MIRACLE OF THE SKIES.

St. Louisans who saw the ZR-1 emerge out of the mist of the early morning darkness, speeding directly overhead at nearly a mile a minute, lights aglow and engines drumming a dramatic tattoo, will never forget the experience. This colossus of the skies appears to Americans as the messenger of a new age and as the fulfillment of an ancient vision first dreamed in the childhood of the race and in the childhood of every generation since.

Childhood has won, as it always wins where the imagination is a factor. The juvenile dreamer and the inventor are on common ground. The skeptic at last has learned the peril of negative prediction. Reality itself, since the beginning of the age of science, has led the imagination a merry chase and can tell as entrancing a fairy tale as the romancer.

While wonders increase, however, the capacity for wonderment diminishes. Our understanding of what we see robs us of a good share of the thrill. A rushing modern passenger train, with shrieking whistle and engine pouring forth trails of smoke, fire and steam, would have paralyzed one of our superstitious ancestors not only with terror but with an intoxication of curiosity. Our awe at the airship riding in the night is delightful. But we wish the sight might have come to us in childhood, without warning or understanding or as a fulfillment of a succulent rumor such as went over the country preceding the Spanish-American War.

But, for the loss of our capacity for being spell-bound, we may soon be compensated by the greatest of all thrills, which is in store for us when these marvelous ships become common carriers. Who can question that in a few more years of experiment and development and increasing confidence we may be afforded the privilege of purchasing a transcontinental journey in the sky, making the jump from New York to San Francisco in perhaps 48 hours or less?

WARMING HIMSELF.

JUST A MINUTE

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Written for the Post-Dispatch by CLARK McADAMS

THE OLD WORLD.

AMSTERDAM.—It was on the trip north from Paris that we first rode upon a European sleeping car. Mr. Antwine thought it superior to an American Pullman.

"Your rest is not disturbed by drummers, who invariably more," Mr. Antwine said. "You look your compartment, which keeps other people from peering into it continually, as we do at home. Nobody reaches in and shakes you or runs his hand over your face, asking, 'Is that you, Mary?' The sweet music of someone's crying child, an unending accompaniment of Pullman travel with us, does not intrude itself upon your calm; nor does a colored porter pull the cover off you in the night to tell you your train is three hours late."

We all thought this was about as fair a comparison as the American sleeping car could expect, and slept soundly on the run to Brussels. We are on our way to Berlin by way of Amsterdam, and are stopping in this quaint city, where instead of automobiles parked upon both sides of the street, as we have them at home, there is shipping of all sorts tied to the curbs. If you live in Rotterdam, The Hague or Amsterdam, you are like as not look out in the morning to see a ship standing beside your window or to mark some other marine visitor brought by the night. Most of the streets in these cities are water, and the spectacle of the outlying truck gardeners leisurely sailing into town with their green beans and cabbage is as welcome a contrast to our own Fordtrucking as one could imagine.

It was here that we made perhaps our most valuable discovery, which is that any European understands English if you repeat it two or three times. None of us came from New York, and we consequently knew not one word of Dutch; but we always made ourselves understandable in English by repeating it two or three times. A Hollander is a placid-looking soul. When he turns his great blue eyes upon you and utters the Dutch equivalent of "Hunh," you feel that your English is futile; but if you hold his gaze fixedly and repeat: "Where is the depot?" "Where is the depot?" "Where is the depot?" a great light presently breaks upon his countenance and he shows you where the depot is. Most Americans in Europe despair too readily of making the foreigner understand English. They forget that we did not know it ourselves the first time we heard it.

Here, for the first time, we are in a country which did not participate in the late war. The Dutch are in consequence sleek and fat, with Holstein cattle everywhere in the fields and Holland the richer for having only looked on. Unlike either England or France, things are high in Holland. A dinner not altogether as Mr. Bryan would have had it set us back so far that Glaucous, who carries the purse, says we will dine tomorrow evening on crack-cakes and cheese.

At any rate, these Hollanders are the people who gave us the unforgettable Col. Roosevelt, who founded New York and who more recently contributed to our galaxy of editorial stars the celebrated Edward W. Bok. Mr. Bok has been at some pains to tell us that the Dutch, indeed, originated most things which differentiate our own civilization from those of Greek and Rome, including golf. Mr. Antwine says that after looking them over he imagines they probably did invent peace. They are a good-natured, happy lot, but Socrates says he is not sure whether that is a Dutch characteristic or because there are so few of them.

"You will observe that in Europe it makes a difference what your commercial capacity and ambition are," Socrates explained. "If you are modest, as the Swiss are, and ask only all hope of greatness as the Dutch have, and ask only a few colonial possessions to maintain you modestly by way of coffee and spices, you can be happy enough. It is when you want what England or some other great Power has that the trouble begins. We shall know all about that when we have got on our way a little further."

It was at Amsterdam that Rembrandt lived, and here, too, is his great picture, "The Night Watch," which we had in St. Louis at the time of the fair. Few art treasures are so priceless as this one is, as few galleries in Europe are so interesting as this. When you are in the Louvre you cannot help feeling that France has mostly sent out for what she has; but the gallery at Amsterdam chiefly contains what the Flemish and Dutch painters produced. It is their own art, which makes it unique.

"We have at last found a people who did not have to send out to start an art gallery," Mr. Antwine said.

There is no finding out what one should do about going into Germany. Most people assure us there is no such thing as traveling there. However, we neither know that we will ever get to Europe again or that there will be any Europe to see if we do come. That thought settled us. We grabbed our baggage and started for the train. Some people think our money will be taken away from us. Others think we will have the clothes taken off our backs. Still others think we will get caught in a revolution.

Mr. Antwine and Socrates think about as little of all this as one very well could. "The trouble is that people have been lying about Germany until it has become a habit," Mr. Antwine said.

In Indianapolis, Klondike, so the story goes, a restaurant man, observing a "100 per cent American" sign on a competitor's window, had this one placed on his:

200 Per Cent American—We Hate Everybody.

No sensible woman ever wastes a perfectly good rolling pin on a worthless husband.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Journalists are like little dogs; whenever anything stirs they immediately begin to bark.—Schopenhauer.

APPLE-PICKERS.—Here Hercules has come again. As in the legends old To sunset islands of the sea With purpose brush and bold.

He seeks the golden apples lost To mankind long ago, Which grew in gardens of the West Beyond the sunset glow.

His robber hand with bag and sack Invade the laden trees, While scolding robins dart around Like the Hesperides.

Beyond the gate the dragon lies By Hercules subdued, And nymphs who pointed out his way Look on in startled mood.

"It's time to quit," dark Tony shouts, And leaves his barren tree, And little thinks that, seeing him, I set my fancy free!

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading public newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

RAILWAY CONSOLIDATION.

From the Kansas City Star.

THE announcement that President Coolidge hitherto noncommittal on the subject, is in favor of the railway consolidation is very definite. The President's attitude may mean more or little. It may mean the merging of a few independent lines into the larger systems, and other limited combinations that probably would be beneficial to the public as well as to the combined railway interests. It is not believed that the President has been made a convert to the extreme—that of grouping all the railways of the country into a very few great systems. Two aspects of the President's position as reported are hopeful. The first is that he is opposed to making all the railroads of New England into one group for the reason that he believes in preserving competition. The factor of competition is precisely the same in the general plan of consolidation, except that it is much more moderate and important as applied to the whole country. The other encouraging aspect is that the President proposes to have an authoritative report on the situation from men of his own choosing. Mr. Coolidge is conservative. With accurate information at hand, it is believed he will see the danger of the Cummins plan of consolidation, especially as applied to the entire West, where great shipping centers have been built up, but which still are sufficiently spaced to make just fight to retain what they now have in shipping advantages. And aside from all other considerations, this is not a good time to interfere with the railroads. They are in a process of rehabilitation. The progress has been gradual, especially as to the increased number of freight cars and their intelligent distribution. It is a good time to let well enough alone.

THE NEWS IN NEWSPAPERS.

From the New York Tribune.

FOR a number of days the newspapers of New York City were compelled to print the news of the bare news, and not much else. In other words, the limbs and outward flourishes of the metropolitan journals consisted chiefly of bulletins. This was what some newspaper men declare they want. Among the causes alleged to augment the proverbial fatigue of the tired business man in elaboration in the news writing, "Give me the facts," says the Tribune, "and I'll be satisfied." But he wasn't satisfied during this period. He discovered that a new skeleton was as unattractive as any other skeleton. Unless the bones of fact the news is left as unsatisfied as are the ocean goes to depend on brief radio paragraphs for the knowledge of what the world ashore is doing. The little details that the bulletin must omit often the most interesting portions of a news item. A well-written story of some stage or patch. A great earthquake, such as the Japanese earthquake, is far more impressive than a mere list of lines giving the number of people killed and injured and the number of buildings destroyed. It is the ability of the good news writer to answer questions before they are asked to know what others want to know about the happenings to which he has been a witness, and to make others see them as he sees them, that makes a satisfactory newspaper. The news is far more important than merely stating

NEW PLANS TO BE DRAFTED FOR SCHOOL FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Proposal That WHI Meet Approval of Public Safety Board to Be Sought.

Formulation of plans for a temporary school for specialized instruction for crippled children at Grand and Howard and Henrietta street, which will receive approval of the Board of Public Safety probably will be undertaken by a committee of the Board of Education before its regular meeting next Tuesday night.

The Board of Public Safety yesterday declined to issue a permit for construction of a one-story frame building 127x140 feet, fronting on Henrietta street, on recommendation of Director of Public Safety McKelvey, who said that the proposed structure did not comply with regulations governing construction within the fire zone.

"I do hope we will be able to put up a building on that site this fall," McKelvey said. "It will be a great misfortune if we are not able to do so."

The Board of Education gave consideration to the element of safety in making plans for the temporary building and we believed it to be safe. But there certainly must be some plan which would permit us to erect a building, with the approval of the Board of Public Safety, and get the school started."

TO MARRY TOMORROW

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

ONE of the brides of tomorrow is to be Miss Margaret Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank X.
Walsh of 5128 Raymond avenue,
who will be married to Charles Bishop Wood, five-handed guest,
have been invited to St. Mark's Catholic Church, where the ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Edmund C. P. Walsh, brother of the bride-elect. A small reception will follow at the Walsh home.

Social Items

Miss Isabelle De Mun Palmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Louis Palmes of Detroit, whose marriage to Harold L. Buckley will be an event of Oct. 29 in Detroit, has had several parties arranged in her honor this week. Miss Annette and Elizabeth Lewis, cousins of the bride-elect, and members of the bride-elect party, will give a dinner party
evening at the Grosse Pointe Riding
and Hunt Club, and Miss Marion Davis, also of Detroit, will give a similar affair later. Mrs. N. Spencer Dennis was hostess at a buffet supper Sunday night at her home on Grosse Pointe, near that of the Palmes family. The wedding will be of interest here because of the social prominence of the Walsh family, the late Julius S. Walsh having been her grandfather. A group of St. Louisians, including her aunt, Mrs. William Maffitt and Mrs. Robert A. B.
Walsh, and Mr. Walsh, will go to Detroit for the ceremony.

Mrs. Charles White Scudder of 75
Vandewater place will depart Oct.
11 for Chicago to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds, in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Fischer have returned from a summer trip West,
and are making their home with Mr.
Fischer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fischer of 444 Forest street.
Their itinerary included
Hart and Lake Louise, and Mrs.
Fischer remained to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe, in Denver. Until recently, she was Miss Margarette Stearns Wolfe.

Mrs. George H. Goddard of 5370
Waterman avenue, has returned from a visit in New York.

Mrs. Isaac W. Morton of 43 Portland place, her sister, Mrs. Robert Morton of 61 Vandewater place, and Mrs. John T. Davis of 17 Westmoreland place, are expected home tomorrow from a summer's tour of Europe. They landed in New York
Saturday. Mrs. Morton's daughter, Miss Alice, is in Paris and will remain abroad for some time.

PRESENT DAY PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY FATHER STITCH

Solution Found in Declaration of Independence and U. S. Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The solution of all present-day problems is found in the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution, said Father
Stitch, S. J., a member of the faculty of St. Louis University, declared last night in an address at the third annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women.

"And that," added Father Stich,
"is to go back to the great foundational truths of Christianity. Though we rejoice in admitting that all good Christians hold to this truth, yet none hold to it more firmly and joyfully than the American Catholic citizens, and I may add especially the educated Catholic women of the United States."

Yesterday's session, over which Mrs. W. T. Donovan of St. Louis presided, was devoted to a discussion of girls' welfare. The Rev. Edward F. Garesche, S. J., of St. Louis advocated the establishment of a registered in each city, where a list of inspected rooming houses could be kept.

NEW VEILED PROPHET QUEEN HOLDS COURT

Pretty Scene at Dinner and Dance at the St. Louis Country Club.

FOLLOWING the Veiled Prophet ball last night, new heights of safety and brilliance were reached in the dinner dances and parties at the various clubs and hotels. The St. Louis Club, where the Queen of Love and Beauty held court with her immediate court and chosen guests, was a scene of color and beauty. Royal purple and gold,
the colors of the Prophet, combined with masses of flowers, vivid with hues of saffron of the women guests.
The walls and ceilings were covered with masses of smilax studded with roses, while standees of the same flowers in pink, the debutante's color, were arranged around the rooms. Smilax was entwined in the balustrades leading to the ballroom,
and over the entrance was suspended
the insignia of His Majesty, wrought in flowers. The lights in the main dining room were softly
dimmed through globes of purple and gold, and in the ballroom 10
large chandeliers were draped in twisted golden strips, with pendant fringe.

The Queen's Guests.
Miss Wallace, presiding over the long table for the debutantes set the length of the dining room, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon B.
Wallace, as chaperones. Here orchids were used with roses for the long centerpiece, while over the whole hung the imperial crown of purple with golden fleur de lis studded with jewels.

The guests were of the queen's choosing and included Misses Rachel Le Coudret, Janet Collins, Tamble
Habitante, Lucy Terry, Louise
Bemis, Emily Shepley, Katherine Steedman, Mary Elizabeth Edwards,
Alice Busch, Judith Dana, Mary Virginia Collins, Frances Compton, Marie Christy, Tiffany, and Mrs.

Creery, John Curlee, Whitelaw
Terry, Louis Hager Jr., Boyle O.
Rodes, Germaine Weld, Louis Lumachi Jr., John Johns, Winston Johns
and Mahlon B. Wallace Jr.

In addition to this central group,
several hundred friends and admirers of the queen gathered to do her homage. Orchestras on each floor played during the dinner and later for dancing. Among the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel L. Moffitt, who entertained for their daughters, Misses Olive and Josephine; Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Jones,
for Miss Julia; Mr. and Mrs.
Harold Reed Wilson, who had a table
for Mrs. Wilson's sister, Miss Lauralouise Price; Mr. and Mrs. J.
W. Fristoe for their daughter, Miss Frances; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry B.
Folk for Miss Dorothy. All of the young women are buds of this season.

At the Racquet Club more than 200 reservations were made, and the following were among those who entertained: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T.
Stanard, who had Mr. and Mrs.
Howard V. Stephens; Mr. and Mrs.
Wilbur Jones; Mr. and Mrs. Carl
Kendall; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones;
J. F. Valle was host to a party of friends, as were H. J. Steinbreder,
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Gardner,
Mr. and Mrs. Stewart MacDonald,
Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge Jones,
Mr. and Mrs. Reid Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Dan W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L.
Ray Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C.
Hilmer, Stuart Stickney, Hugo Koch-
ler and Robert A. Baghell. A "dutch" party included Mr. and Mrs. Allen Little, Mr. and Mrs.
Howard Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Ingram Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Capen,
Mr. and Mrs. Warren Goddard, and

'SALLY' TAKEN TO NEW YORK
SO ACTOR CAN BECOME CITIZEN

Ziegfeld Puts on Two Weeks' Run to Help Leon Errol Thwarted
for 20 Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—It has just become known that the real reason why Florence Ziegfeld brought her musical comedy, "Sally," back for a two weeks' run at the New Amsterdam was to permit Leon Errol,
known off the stage as Leon Errol Simms, to acquire citizenship. For 20 years Errol has been trying to get his final papers, meanwhile showing Americans how funny they were when drunk.

Whenever the time came around for him to apply for papers a theoretical manager would bring him out of town. Ziegfeld heard of his predicament recently, however, and when application time approached again,
he brought Errol's present vehicle,
"Sally," back here. Simms was sworn in yesterday as an American citizen.

U. S. JUDGE, 81, TO RETIRE

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.—Federal Judge Walter Evans, formally announced his approaching retirement from the bench to take effect
not later than Jan. 6, 1924.

Judge Evans is 81 years old. One of his recent decisions, that automobiles might not legally be searched
under public highways without a search warrant, attracted wide attention. His effect, prohibition enforcement officials said, was to make enforcement of prohibition in the Western Kentucky district more difficult than in the Eastern Kentucky district where Federal Judge A. M. Cochran had not so interpreted the search and seizure features of the law.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH REORGANIZATION PLAN

Proposed Change Would Permit
Creation of New Standing Committees.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Every pastor of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., 10,000 in all, will receive during the next two weeks
copies of a new plan for organization of synods, presbyteries and local churches, prepared by the Committee on Reorganization and Consolidation. This is one of the final steps in the reorganization of the church which has been in process
for three years.

The plan proposes that each of the 501 presbyteries set up a presbyterial council, a standing committee on promotional program and field activities, and standing committees on the work of each of the four new boards, foreign missions, national missions, Christian education and open in Chicago Oct. 15. On Oct. 19
the committee will begin a trip down
the drainage canal and the Illinois and Mississippi rivers.

The bill, in addition to providing for a nine-foot channel in the Illinois and Mississippi to conform with the Ohio River channel from Pittsburg to Cairo, calls for a diversion of 10-000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan for sanitary disposal.

The Chicago synod district's boat,
the "Robert R." has been chartered to carry the senatorial party to Lockport, Ill. The trip to Peoria will be made by automobile. At Peoria, after a hearing Oct. 19, the party will board the U. S. S. "Mississippi" and follow this itinerary:

Oct. 20, Beardstown; Oct. 21, Grafton, arriving at St. Louis in the evening; Oct. 22, hearings and inspections of terminals and docks in St.
Louis; Oct. 23, Cairo; Oct. 24, Memphis; Oct. 25, Vicksburg; Oct. 27-29,
New Orleans.

MAP OF TRANSCONTINENTAL
AIR MAIL ROUTE EXHIBITED

On Display Outside Federal Building
at Ninth and Olive—22-Foot and Is in Color.

A 22-foot map showing the transcontinental route of the United States air mail service has been placed on exhibition outside the Federal Building at Ninth and Olive streets. The map, which shows in considerable detail the topography of the country, is in color, and the portion of the route equipped for night flying is marked by tiny electric lights at points corresponding to the location of beacons placed for guidance of the air mail pilots.

The map was made by Eddie Richards, former automobile race driver and now in charge of airplane repair for the Postoffice Department. Sixteen air mail ships and their pilots are here for the international air race, together with Col.
Paul Henderson, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, who will direct the aerial mail service is operated.

CHICAGO FAVORED BY G. O. P.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, the Chicago Tribune announced today, has prepared enough votes to make certain the holding of the next Republican National Convention in Chicago.

The canvass for the treasurer revealed that Chicago will be favored

MEMORIAL BEARS INSCRIPTIONS SOLDIERS WROTE ON ENLISTING

Two Towns Scratched on Wet Concrete Prophecies of Their Fate
in World War.

By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Mo., Oct. 2.—A monument in honor of two Iowa killed in the World War, which will bear inscriptions written by the men themselves before their departure for France, is to be unveiled Sunday at Patterson, near here. Plans for the ceremony were announced today.
The inscription reads:
"Jesse R. Salsbury, killed in France."
"Joe Downes, shot."
The words were scratched into a piece of wet concrete on the day the young men enlisted and were preserved by Patterson authorities. When the war ended, it was found that Salsbury and Downes were the only men who went to the front from the little town who failed to return. The concrete block and its inscription were made a part of the municipal memorial. Salsbury and Downes, boyhood companions, served in Company A, 16th Infantry, and died together in Lorraine May 27, 1918.

'DRYS' SWEEP NEW JERSEY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

State Democrats Adopt Plan So Mildly Opposed to Prohibition as to Arouse Ire of Radical "Wets."

By the Associated Press.
TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 2.—Upsetting the plans of organization leaders, members of the Republican party who stand for a continuance of prohibition enforcement legislation, made their own plans for the Republican State convention yesterday with the result that the party will not make its campaign this year on a platform which calls for a modification of the Volstead act.

The prohibition question caused a stir at the Democratic State convention. The result was the adoption of a plank so mildly opposed to prohibition as to arouse the ire of the radical wets. Adoption of the more drastic wet resolution was opposed by Gov. Silzer on the ground that the party should not go on record as antagonizing the Constitution of the United States.

GARY ON STATE ROAD PROGRAM

Says $15,000,000 Could Be Used Annually for Three Years.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.— Theodore Gary, chairman of the State Highway Commission, asked 75 business men at a meeting here
last night, to assist in speeding up
the Missouri good roads program.
Gary said the program for construction of a system of primary and secondary roads throughout the State was only 80 per cent efficient. He said $15,000,000 could be used annually for the next three years on the roads.

MARLOWE DRAGS OUT ROLE IN 'CYMBELINE'

Criticised for "Caressing It Beyond Endurance"—"Did Not Play Well."

By HEYWOOD BROOKS,
Dramatic Editor of the New York World.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Sothern and Marlowe, in "Cymbeline," at Jolson's Fifty-ninth Street Theater. It is useless for us to pretend a passion which we do not feel, and so we might as well admit at the outset
that there is much in the theater which interests us more than the dramas of William Shakespeare. But it seems to us that Shakespeare himself quite possibly would have remarked during the intermission last night, "If you please, sir, don't judge
my show by the performance tonight. They don't seem to have quite got the idea."

Retarded Pace Almost Rifeous.

Certainly, not Julia Marlowe. By intent, and often by achievement,
"Cymbeline" is a spirited romance with much ingenious incident and rapid turn of plot. Miss Marlowe seizes upon the fine role of Imogene
and carries it beyond endurance.
As soon as her first scene began
it was quite evident why it was necessary to start the performance before 8 o'clock. Miss Marlowe finds parting with every phrase sweet sorrow. Each word is welcomed and asked to sit down. And before she is on with a new sentence she must be done with the old and have time to mourn its passing and listen to its last echoing footstep. Indeed, she loses out many a tag as if it were a loquacious question which she half expects to circle the theater and come back to hang again. The retarded pace is all but ruinous.

It must be that Miss Marlowe was a fine actress. We remember her very vividly as one of the most glorious personages of the theater, but she did not play well last night.

Betrayed by Vocal Richness.

We rather think she falls into that tragic comedy of players betrayed by vocal richness. Every one of them comes in time to be hypo-
tized into listening to the tones

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded
Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two; it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Bankers' Trust Co. of New York, the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Mercantile Trust Co., First National Co., Compton Co., Francis & Co., Liberty Central Trust Co. and Mississippi Valley Trust Co.

Then there are $5,500,000 of Suburban bonds, $2,000,000 of which are 5 per cent Suburban Consolidated and $3,500,000 of Suburban 5 per cent general. The Consolidated having preference. These issues are in default. They are secured by a mortgage on the old Suburban Railway property extending from Sixth and Locust streets to Holliday and including county lines. They are not guaranteed by other United Railways property. These bonds are represented by two committees, headed by Herman Stifel and Mark Steinberg, which are represented by Sam B. Jeffries and Marion C. Early.

Transit Is Due Next Year.
Then come $9,750,000 of St. Louis Transit 5s, due in 1924, which are secured by a mortgage on the St. Louis Transit Co. property and franchise, and which constitute a second mortgage on the United Railways property as a whole. The Transit 5s are represented by a committee of which Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., is the dominating factor.

Then come $30,000,000 of United Railways 4s which are a mortgage on the entire United Railways system. These are held locally and in Louisville, Ky., and are represented locally by a committee headed by Breckinridge Jones, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., and N. A. McMillan, chairman of the board of the St. Louis Union Trust Co.

The holders of preferred stock are represented by Frank O. Watts, president of the First National Bank. From time to time during the past two years there have been conferences of the various interests, both interlocking and conflicting, but they were described by one of the interested parties as being mere "gab-fests." It is known that the North American Co. two years ago presented a suggestion for a reorganization, but this was described by the head of one of the committees as "the only plan he ever saw submitted under such circumstances which didn't suit anybody."

Without Reorganization Plan.
So the situation at this time is that there is no plan under consideration, and so far as it has been possible to learn nobody has a plan which there is any likelihood the others will accept.

The decision of Attorneys Jeffries and Early to file a foreclosure suit next week on the Suburban issued may be expected to bring the matter to a head and to hurry negotiations for a reorganization. While the holders of the Suburban bonds profess a desire for a separation of that property from the United Railways, it is doubtful that they are as anxious for this as their opposers, the property covered by the Suburban lines not being a money making property.

At any rate it is inconceivable that the court or the Public Service Commission would permit a disintegration of the system. The representative of one interest put it: "The public would not stand for it. There would be a riot. The courts and the commission will give consideration to the public interest."

Estimate of Cash Needed Now.

It was estimated by one banker that a reorganization at this time would require approximately $14,500,000 in cash. He spoke on the theory that cash would be required for the receiver's certificates, the three underlying bond issues, the mill tax judgment, the Suburban Consolidated and the costs of the receivership. He also took the position that when the Transit 5s become due next year nearly $10,000,000 cash more would be required for a reorganization if it did not come before that time.

The recent refusal of Federal Judge Faris to extend the underlying bonds and the Suburban bonds automatically created a default in the $30,000,000 of United Railways 4s and yesterday the local committees, headed by Breckinridge Jones, advertised depositories to which holders of these securities could send them. The advertisement also was signed by John F. Shepley of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and L. W. Hottel of Louisville.

for the fat meats and crops of the Western corn belt.

"When sugar was practically put out on the free list, there were 92 sugar mills between New Orleans and the Gulf, and after the Wilson Tariff Law, the number was reduced to one and over one hundred million dollars practically wiped out at one stroke of the pen. It is a human impossibility for the sugar farmer, even with the most modern machinery and equipment, with the present high cost of labor and machinery, to come in competition with Cuba with its cheaper labor."

Animal Turns on Alarm Calling Police to Mercantile House.

Police officers, detectives and operatives from a burglar alarm system rushed to the Reed & Turner Mercantile Co., 805 Market street, at 4:30 a. m. today when the alarm indicated burglars were forcing an entrance.

After surrounding the store and finding no indication of intruders, the investigators went inside. In a show case they found a cat playing with a piece of tape attached to the side of a window frame. The vibration caused by the playful cat is believed to have caused the burglar system to function.

It is impossible to make an accurate estimate of the life of GMC Trucks. To begin with, every wearing part is built oversize to give extra long service. And when a part does finally wear out after years of strenuous use, it can easily be replaced.

Moreover, exclusive features add indefinitely to the life of GMC—removable cylinder walls, extra large brakes, drums, radius rods, easily replaceable bearings and many others.

Numerous other factors likewise add to the usefulness and life of GMC. With reasonable care, they will last indefinitely.

H. E. Coffin Resi

The rift developing in the National Aeronautic Association, because of factional differences, apparently was closed yesterday noon when the Board of Directors accepted the resignation of E. Coffin, of Detroit, as president, after he had been re-elected for a few hours after the convention in which he was re-elected, and selected Patterson of Dayton, O., as successor. Coffin will be of the Board of Governors Executive Committee.

This action is expected to avert a movement for a new organization of aviation started during a stormy Monday night after the election of Vice President B. H. of Pittsburgh, for the president of the Board of Governors Executive Committee.

It had been expected that Coffin was re-elected for a second term, at Hotel Statler, he had said he would not be re-elected. Friends of Coffin, however, had been "rolled" and a bolt was cast. A meeting was held to plan organization.

As exclusively related in the Edition of the Post-Dispatch, Coffin said that his resignation would go before the Board of Directors at a meeting called yesterday afternoon. After a short while after midnight Coffin continued as president, but before the day the session was closing in, yesterday and told the not accept the office.

The Nominations Committee presented the names of and W. Frank Carter, of the St. Louis Air Board, as candidates for the presidency. The nominations were made, after the committee had the nomination to Coffin after the nomination and the latter declared he would not be a candidate.

Miss Over Nomination. Porter H. Adams, member of the Board of Directors and chairman of the Nominations Committee, read the association early in Monday night. He said he informed Coffin was to be a candidate just before started, and was asked other meeting of the Nominations Committee to nominate which he refused to do. Coffin presented the nomination and Carter, but the latter was withdrawn. In his formal resignation, Coffin stated he had felt obliged to the "insistence" of the delegates that I do the moment at least, in duty.

F. B. PATTERSON HEADS AERONAUTIC SOCIETY

Threatened Rift in Association Apparently Avoided When
H. E. Coffin Resigns.

The rift developing in the National Aeronautic Association, because of factional differences, apparently was closed yesterday afternoon when the Board of Governors accepted the resignation of Howard E. Coffin, of Detroit, as president, a few hours after the convention session which he was re-elected to that office, and selected Fred B. Patterson, of Dayton, O., as Coffin's successor. Coffin will be a member of the Board of Governors and the Executive Committee.

This action is expected to terminate a movement for a new national organization of aviation men, started during a stormy session late Monday night after the candidacy of Vice President B. H. Mulvihill, of Pittsburgh, for the presidency, had been flattened out.

Coffin was re-elected on a nomination from the floor of the convention, at Hotel Statler, although he had said he would not seek re-election. Friends of Mulvihill declared the latter had been "overruled" and a bolt was threatened. A meeting was held to plan a new organization.

As exclusively related in the Home Edition of the Post-Dispatch yesterday, Coffin said that his resignation would go before the Board of Governors at a meeting called for yesterday afternoon. After the election shortly after midnight Monday night, leaders of the opposing faction had indicated a break might result if Coffin continued as president. The latter went before the delegates as the session was closing about 3 a. m. yesterday and told them he could not accept the office.

The Nominations Committee had presented the names of Mulvihill and W. Frank Carter, chairman of the St. Louis Air Board, as candidates for the presidency. These nominations were made, it was said, after the committee had tendered the nomination to Coffin Monday afternoon and the latter had declared he would not be a candidate.

Mixup Over Nominations.
Porter H. Adams, of Boston, a member of the Board of Governors and chairman of the Nominations Committee, resigned from the association early in the meeting Monday night. He said he had been informed Coffin was to be put up as a candidate just before the meeting started, and was asked to call another meeting of the Nominations Committee to nominate Coffin, which he refused to do. The committee presented the names of Mulvihill and Carter, but the name of the latter was withdrawn.

In his formal resignation Coffin stated he had felt obliged to acquiesce to the "insistent demand" of the delegates that I continue, for the moment at least, in the presidency.

NEW PRESIDENT OF AERONAUTIC SOCIETY

F. B. PATTERSON

"The objects for which we are all working are of such paramount importance," he continued, "and of such vital relation to our national security and welfare, that it seemed unthinkable that we should permit the development of a situation which might threaten the future usefulness of this organization."

He expressed appreciation of the confidence expressed in his re-election, but said that personal duties and obligations precluded his continuing in the office beyond the time necessary for the board to select his successor.

The by-laws of the organization provide that the Board of Governors shall fill a vacancy created after the annual election by the association.

Patterson, the new president, is not here for the convention of the association, which is being held as a part of the Third National Aero Congress, in connection with the International Air Races at St. Louis Field. He has a representative here in connection with Dayton's efforts to get the 1924 air races. Acceptance of the presidency by Patterson was obtained over the telephone by Orville Wright, the "father of aviation," who is one of the five members at large of the Board of Governors.

H. H. Emmons of Detroit resigned from the Board of Governors in favor of Coffin, and the latter was elected to the board. Coffin then was elected vice president for the Sixth District, comprising Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, and in this capacity is a member of the Executive Committee.

The board issued a statement commending Coffin's service as president of the association since its organization a year ago in Detroit.

During the last year expenses of the organization totaled $116,062.49, all of which were borne by Coffin, according to the annual report submitted by Mulvihill. The latter, as vice president, virtually was in charge of the active management. The organization is the largest

SUIT ASKS FOR SEIZURE OF INDIANA KLAN LISTS

Action Charges Members Have Conspired to Set Up a Super-Government.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 3.—Charges that members of the Ku Klux Klan are conspiring to become a super-government that will supplant the Constitution of the United States and are endeavoring to take over the administration of justice in the United States are contained in a suit against the Klan filed in the Federal Court here on behalf of six residents of South Bend, Ind.

It is asserted in the petition, which was filed yesterday, that the Ku Klux Klan intends to take over the military forces of the country, and Government properties, and to influence army boards of inquiry that look into the disposition of property.

The suit asks that the membership lists of the Indiana Klan be seized and for an injunction restraining the defendants from representing the plaintiffs to be members of the Klan. The date set for a hearing on the plea for a preliminary injunction will be set later.

The Klan is an organization to oppress American citizens who are negroes, Catholics and Jews, the complaint charges. It is further alleged that the purposes for which the Klan is designed are:

To wear citizens from their support of the laws of the United States; to corrupt and take over a large part of administration of justice and laws in their making; to gain immunity through control of the judiciary and other officials for members who commit murder, mayhem, mutilation of the bodies of their victims, tarring, feathering and beating into insensibility citizens, without legal warrant; to convict by perjured evidence; to boycott and withdraw patronage from negroes, Catholics and Jews; to hold secret hearings and condemn persons unheard and to execute sentence on these persons; to have members of the army and militia abjure their loyalty to the Government; to participate in illegal meetings and to blockade streets and highways.

aeronautic association in the country and is the American representative of the international federation. The Contest Committee supervises events in the air races and designates the place where they are held, in conference with army and navy officials. Activities of this committee cost the association $11,000 last year.

Work of the convention virtually closed yesterday. One business session is scheduled for today. The annual smoker will be held Saturday night, the postponement of the air races having necessarily caused the smoker to be put over. Trophies won in the races will be awarded at the smoker and officers of the National Aeronautic Association installed.

SOURCE OF POISONED
CANDY UNDETERMINED

Package That Made Six Girls Ill
First Ever Received by Mail
by Miss Ruby Bowne.

The source of the poisoned candy that caused the illness of six young women in the shirt department of the Elder Manufacturing Co., Thirteenth street and Lucas avenue, still is undetermined by city detectives, who have been investigating the case since yesterday.

As was told in the late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Miss Ruby Bowne, 22 years old, of 742 Walton avenue, who received the candy in the mail, declared that she had no idea who had sent it or why anyone should have tried to poison her and the girls who work with her in the shirt factory. Today she amplified this statement when interviewed by detectives.

"First Candy by Mail."
"Nobody ever sent me candy before," she said, "and that alone should have made me suspicious. But I never gave it a thought. I just tore off the wrapper, opened the box and placed it on the work table. I told the other girls to help themselves, and they all pitched in. It was fudge and marshmallows and it tasted good. We ate quite a bit of it."

"Later in the afternoon six of the girls became ill. They were seized with nausea. Miss Thekla Schurch and Miss May Yount had such a violent spell that a doctor was called and he ordered them home. Two other girls, Luella Schumder and Bertha Gunther, also had to be taken home. The fifth and sixth girl recovered sufficiently to go home alone and they were back at work the next day, but the others did not return for several days."

"Four of us who ate the candy did not feel any ill effects. That was strange, because we helped ourselves to pieces in various parts of the box. I wrapped up what was left and decided I was going to have the matter investigated."

"The candy was delivered at the factory in the mail Monday, Sept. 24. I was not at work that day. I had been visiting friends in Collinsville the day before and did not feel well. I got the candy, still wrapped up, when I reported for duty Tuesday morning."

"My name and the factory address were printed on the cover with lead pencil. A strange thing about it is that in the lower left corner of the address was 'Fifth Floor.' None of my friends outside the factory know what floor I am employed on."

"I took the box home and Thursday night, Sept. 28, I told a friend, Arnold J. Saig of 2828 Lemp avenue, about the girls becoming sick and asked him if he thought the candy had anything to do with it. He looked at the candy and suggested that I take it at once to the City Chemist. We went right down to the Municipal Courts Building and as the chemist was not in his office, I left the box on a table, with a note asking that the candy be examined."

Miss Bowne expressed surprise yesterday when informed that the City Chemist, after an analysis of the candy, had reported that it contained arsenic, which evidently had been placed there deliberately. She said she had no enemies that she knew of. The box bore the name of a St. Louis candy establishment and originally had contained assorted chocolates. The box had been re-filled before it was sent to Miss Bowne.

ITCHY, PIMPLES
ALL OVER FACE

Spread and Eruptions Formed. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble first started with little pimples that broke out all over my face. Later the pimples would break open and itch badly, and when I scratched them they would spread and sore eruptions formed. The trouble lasted about a year. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the pimples began to improve. I continued using them and now I am completely healed." (Signed) John Hartman, 3119 N. 20th St., Kansas City, Kansas.

Clean the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap and occasional touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soften, soothe and heal. They are ideal for the body, as is also Cuticura Talcum for perfuming.

VOLCANIC ASH CAUSES
DEATH OF REINDEER

Deposit From Mountain Covers
One of Their Feed Ranges
in Alaska.

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 10.—The Government reindeer herd at Port Heiden, on Bristol Bay, has suffered recently because volcanic ash from a peak to the westward covered the feed range to a depth of about an inch and a half, according to advices received here.

The ash, stirred by the hooves of the reindeer, caused acute throat and lung trouble, and were away the hair and skin from their lips, causing suffering and often death. All the herders suffered, and Fred R. Tait, Government teacher, had a narrow escape from death. An attempt to move the herd across the Alaskan Peninsula finally was abandoned.

The reindeer herd, placed by the Government in the Broad Pass region last year, has prospered remarkably. Eskimo and Indian herders have been ear-marking the late crop of fawns and erecting corals preparatory to the fall roundup and count.

According to the herders, caribou soon will be entering the herd. The caribou and deer cross freely and there are a number of cross-breeds in the Broad Pass herd.

When the reindeer were being driven from the Good News Bay district, along the table lands of the Alaska Range, thousands of caribou migrating in an opposite direction were met. There was no alternative but to strike into the mass and some of the deer were lost, although the reindeer dogs reclaimed many.

The Government herd at Alitak, on the south end of Kodiak Island, is reported to be thriving. The original herd was driven from Port Heiden to Chignik Bay, placed aboard the United States Coast Guard cutter Unalaga and landed at Alitak in 1921. Recent conditions are said to be almost ideal.

Imports Through Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1.—More than a third of China's customs revenue was derived from entries through the port of Shanghai, according to the annual trade report for 1932 just issued. The gross collection this year was $1,323,000, or approximately $15,310,000.

Great Britain, including the British dependencies and Hongkong, still maintains a big lead in the gross value of Chinese trade, but the United States leads all individual countries, followed by Japan.

A report issued by the American Consulate shows that declared exports from Shanghai to the United States in the half year ending June 30, last, amounted to $29,367,211, an increase of more than $2,000,000.

UNUSUALLY LARGE RUN OF
SALMON EXPECTED IN 1925

Will Be Due to Efforts of Federal and Washington State Fisheries in Hatching.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEATTLE, Wash.—A phenomenal run of salmon perhaps eclipsing that of this year may be expected in 1925 due to the excellent escapement to the spawning grounds and fish hatcheries of the State during the closed season which ended Sept. 15. State Fisheries experts say. The return of the kingly salmon in such numbers is due to efforts in late years when State and Federal fisheries bureaus have hatched millions of fish and turned them into the streams. In return the seasonal period, when the older fish may go unhindered upstream, to deposit eggs has enabled the salmon to hold its own against the heavy drag of seining and trapping.

CHIEF OF FEDERAL WEATHER BUREAU AT AERO CONGRESS

Comes to Look Over Local Office, Which He Says Is in Capable Hands.

Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, is attending the National Aero Congress at Hotel Statler.

"No, I'm not here to insure perfect weather for the air races," he said laughingly. "I have come to look over the local Weather Bureau, which is in capable hands, and furnish any information I can that may be of value in aeronautics."

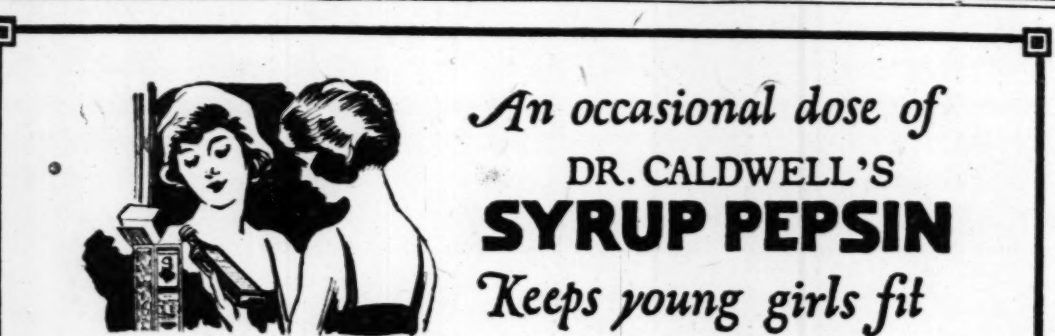

"St. Louis ranks well among the large cities in summer weather conditions. Our records show that your city was affected less by the heat in the summer just ended than was any other large city in the country. St. Louis also has one of the most comprehensive sets of weather records in existence—those kept by Dr. George Engelmann of the St. Louis Academy of Science, from 1837 to 1871, when the Government established its present Weather Bureau service. Dr. Engelmann's records are of much value in comparing weather conditions of today with those of the last century. You know people are interested in comparisons, just as they are in the varying stages of the river and the fall and rise of temperature."

SQUIRRELS SWIM FOR FOOD

WHITE SALMON, Wash.—

Thousands of gray squirrels are swimming the Columbia River from the Oregon shore to get acorns on the Washington side. The oak groves this year are producing the heaviest crop of mast ever known. Although the river is over 1000 feet wide here they find many ways to beat the current. Some ride on floating bark, landing far down stream. Others rest front feet on bits of brush and paddle with the hind feet. Many of them are hardy enough to swim strongly over. The squirrels are good for food and produce a fur popular for coat and garment trimming.

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now. Mrs. Mary Keller of 132 Benton St., Sistersville, W. Va., was perplexed about her daughter until her own druggist told her they used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at his house, and she did likewise. Miss Irene Mazierska of 90 Peter St., Buffalo, N. Y., is glad her attention was called to Syrup Pepsin.

Safe for Young and Old
Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is enforced. A rule followed by many is to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin once a week until the bowels function daily, and at such other times as there is headache, biliousness, sores and fever blisters, lack of energy and appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion.

Public Recognizes Merit
You will quickly see the difference between a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and castor oil, or rough cathartics and physics. Syrup Pepsin acts gently and does not gripe. Increased doses are not necessary. A bottle can be had at any drug store, and a spoonful costs less than a cent. It has been successfully used for thirty years and is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles having been sold in drug stores last year. Keep Syrup Pepsin in your medicine chest.

CROPS IN PHILIPPINES
MENACED BY INSECTS

Locusts Cut Sugar Yield; Rice Worms Appear; Fungus Disease Damages Hemp Plant.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

MANILA, Aug. 25.—While optimistic report of crop progress are pouring in from certain provinces, the pest control division of the Department of Agriculture realizes that it has hard work cut out for it during the coming season, if many regions of the Philippines are not to be laid waste by some crop pest.

The locusts are always in evidence, and their damage to crops runs into the millions of pesos annually. In one or two provinces they have cut the sugar crop in half for two successive years.

A fungus disease of which little is known is destroying vast areas of abaca, the plant from which hemp for Manila rope is made, and the source of the Philippines' principal wealth.

The province of Cavite, one of the greatest hemp-producing sections of the Philippines, has been swept almost clean of abaca.

The plant pest control division of the department is investigating the plants and disease in the hope of finding some means for fighting it, but so far the only remedy has been to try to prevent its spread to other areas by strict quarantine.

Rice cutworms, said to be a dangerous infection, have appeared in the province of Tarlac, invading more than one-half of the rice plantations in the municipality of Pan-ol.

July, 1932, French and Belgian trainmen, 257 German trainmen, 224 German auxiliary workers, total of 48,281 persons—were employed.

FRENCH ASSESS RUHR

RAIL TRAFFIC GROWS

410,000 Passengers in July as Against 32,418,000 Monthly Under German Control.

Knowledge of the Associated Press.
COLOGNE, Sept. 11.—Constant improvement in efficiency and economy in the operation of the German railway system in the occupied areas is pointed out in statistics tabulated
by French officials.

Every month, according to these statistics, has shown an unanticipated increase in the number of passengers carried and merchandise transported,
as well as additional trackage brought under control of the occupation authorities.

In order, however, to obtain an accurate perspective of what this railway system, one of the most complicated in the world, was like before the occupation as compared with its present status—undoubtedly greatly improved within the past few months
—it is necessary to compare it as it is today not only with what it was a few months ago, but also with what it was before it was taken over by French and Belgian administrators.

From trustworthy figures the following comparisons are made:

Trackage: In March of this year
the occupation authorities were using 845 miles of track, and in July—
the latest month for which figures are available—they were using 2130
miles.

The whole system in the Rhine and Ruhr occupied areas,
as operated by the Germans before the occupation, consisted of 7150 miles of track. Since few miles are still being operated under German management, some 5000 miles of track are still rusting.

Personnel: In March, 11,000
French and Belgian train operators, German trainmen and 2360 German auxiliary workers were employed on the occupied system; or a total of 13,446 persons. In July, 19,333 French and Belgian train-men, 257 German trainmen and 9224 German auxiliary workers—a total of 24,964 persons—were employed.

Before the occupation the total personnel, including officials and workmen, amounted to 267,000. Of this number, about 23,000 have left the occupied area, or have been expelled, leaving about 65,000 former employees still in the occupied zone
to do whatever emergency work
they can.

Passenger traffic: In March, 600,
000 passengers. In July, 410,000 civilian and military travelers were carried on the trains, whereas in July the passenger traffic had increased to 2,410,000 persons, of whom about two-thirds were German civilians. This, of course, was despite the German dict. fact, in formal, against the use of French trains by German civilians.

During October, November and December, 1922, the passenger traffic over the German-managed lines,
judging from the number of tickets sold, amounted to 9,254,000 persons, making the monthly list of passengers about 21,418,000, as compared with 2,410,000 carried on the French trains during July, 1922.

AERONAUTICAL EXPERTS STRESS NEED FOR FEDERAL REGULATION

Members of City Club and Advertising Club Hear Talks on Lunch-cons on Aviation.

Future of aeronomics and the necessary for Federal regulation were the topics of addresses by leaders in aeronautical development at two luncheon yesterday, one at the City Club and the other of the St. Louis Advertising Club at Hotel Statler.

Howard E. Coffin, president of the National Aeronautic Association, at both places urged Federal legislation to foster aviation and protect the public. He said there should be Federal appropriations for landing fields and other facilities,
and also to regulate the flying of aircraft.

Mal. Charles J. Glidden of Boston, at the City Club, said the day of the pony dragoon, a three-passenger, 500-pound craft, capable of a speed of 50 miles an hour, and costing approximately $10,000, was near,
and expressed the opinion that thousands of them would be purchased by individuals.

Godfrey L. Cabot of Boston discussed aviation from the military standpoint, holding that the safety of the United States depended upon increased Federal appropriations for aviation.

BENNETTS TRY OUT

"SIX-BLOCK DIVORCE"

Actor and Wife Each Take Daughter and a Half and All Dine Together Nightly.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—"Yes that's just it," remarked Mrs. Richard Bennett, known to the stage as Adrienne Morrison. "It's simply a personality separation; a six-block divorce."

Mrs. Bennett, with an old black wrap about her and a paper collar around her throat, was sitting on the edge of the bed explaining her version of why she and her actor husband decided to seek more joy by living apart. She has finished moving into the top floor rear of a painted studio building at 126 East Fifty-fourth street, and her share of the Bennett household effects were stacked about in disorder.

The arrangement about the children, said Mrs. Bennett, was that Constance, 18 years old and in the movies, should live with her; Barbara, 17, and studying dancing, will live with Mr. Bennett at 168 West Fifty-sixth street, and Joan, 15 years old, when she returns from the St. Margaret's School, Waterbury, will live fifty-fifty with each of the households.

Too Many Cooks in Too Few Years.
Although Mrs. Bennett called it a "personality separation"—and it should be stated right here that the Bennetts are on the best of terms—
it appears that a more fundamental thing, than mere personality, is back of the establishment of the separate establishments. The thing that spoiled the Bennett family brood was
—yes, cooks, too many cooks.

"Many cooks have told me this,"
said Mrs. Bennett, laughing, "and too many cooks in too few years, that they won't stay where there are four breakfasts to be gotten every day.
We are four individual entities. Four strong individualists. It isn't true that my daughters clashed—but we all clashed on hours and likes and dislikes.

"I'm not a Fannie Hurst," said Mrs. Bennett. "He comes here when he likes. We always have dinner together—the entire family.
"Who suggested the separate homes?"

"I'm afraid that I did," she replied. "You see I was closer to the cooks."

"Mr. Bennett, you see," she resumed, "is a genius; at any rate, persons regard him as a genius and I suppose that he is. Well, von these geniuses should be what shall I say, perhaps 'segregated'
would do as well as another word."

"It Can't Be Done."
"Geniuses are difficult to live with and when you have four personalities clashing and four sets of hours clashing, well, it can't be done. Just the servant problem alone is a big thing to manage. You need four apartments and four sets of servants to fit in with the varying demands of four different persons.

"But don't get the impression that this is more than a 'personality separation.' It is nothing of the kind.
We are all the best of friends. Why,
we have been married 20 years.
This is a long time for a woman on the stage to own up to. But it is true, and we are just as happy as we ever were. On Nov. 8 next, which will be our twentieth anniversary,
we are all going to get together right
here for a big celebration."

Negress Says Effort Was Made to Prevent Testimony for Stokes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Charges of intimidation in an effort to keep her from testifying for W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel owner, in his appeal against Hotel Elwood Stokes, were made today by Mrs. Neil Rose Miller, a negress, in a $10,000 damage suit for false arrest brought against Bernard Flood, a detective attached to the District Attorney's office.

She alleges she was arrested here
Sept. 26 and detained two hours "on pretended authority." Charges by Illinois State officials who caused her detention, that she evaded subpoena service in the Stokes case, were denied in the papers she filed.

STATUE A YEAR IN

KANSAS CITY PLANNED

$50,000 to Be Raised Annually
by Contributions of Various Organizations.KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 3.—Believing that civic service is best accomplished by the adornment of the city of the future, the Patriots and Pioneers' Foundation has undertaken a ten-year program of statue building.A concurrent aim is the furthering of American spirit in practice as well as in sentiment. It is the purpose to raise $50,000 annually for the erection of a statue of one of the national figures, and to involve every home with the desire to contribute to the commemoration of these heroes. To this end $5000 already has been raised.The foundation is the inspiration of Joseph Moynihan, a retired sugar broker, who suggested the idea of "A Statue a Year for Kansas City." Only statute for two years have been planned—one of Washington,
the other of Lincoln.Committees Appointed.
Special civic committees have been appointed to confer with officials of the Kansas City Park Board; to study the statues of other cities; and to arrange a campaign for the raising of funds.The organization has been indorsed by churches, clubs and other organizations of the city. The late President Harding wrote a letter of encouragement. Charles Moore, former chairman of the National Fine Arts Commission, in an address to the Park Board, termed the plan a program for the perpetual beautification of parks and boulevards.With the fund being subscribed, works of the most renowned national sculptors are being considered. Moynihan, last spring, made a special study of celebrated Washington statues in the East. A careful report was returned to the committee.Following selection of an appropriate monument, a site will be chosen by experts and prepared suitably.A campaign for a statue of Washington opened last February. An honor roll and "patriotic dollar day"
week was arranged. Special diplomas were given $100 subscribers. As it was planned to conduct the campaign through the year, it was furthered only through voluntary subscriptions. Of the first 5000 subscribers, the majority were wage earners and school children.Special Red Letter Days.
Special red letter days have been named on national holidays and patriotic programs with the fund as an objective, held in the public schools.
Merchants and store owners also contributed by decorating during the "dollar day campaign."No effort has been made this summer to increase the fund, but a program now is being arranged to hold a $100 week, a dollar week and a 50-cent week, thus completing the first annual "endowment." The subsequent purchase, election and unveiling of the statue then is planned.Will of H. T. Kilpatrick Filled.
The will of Henry T. Kilpatrick, a plumber, who died Sept. 23, bequeaths $2000 each to the Masonic Home of Missouri and Shriners' Hospital; $1000 to the St. Louis Children's Hospital; $2000 to his friend, Robert J. Anderson; $1000 to the latter's sister, Miss Sarah Anderson,
and put the remainder of his estate,
estimated at $50,000, in trust for the benefit of his wife, Mrs. Annie Kilpatrick, 3158 Brantner place.Yacht and Whisky Captured.
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Three police boats trapped and captured without a shot a $50,000 gasoline yacht with $60,000 worth of whisky on shore after engine trouble had forced her to cut down her speed. Four men were arrested.ADVERTISEMENTS

SIBERIA SEEKING

OUTSIDE CAPITAL

Co-Operation of American Capitalists in Development Work Welcomed.Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch
and the Chicago Daily News.
NOVONIKOLAIENSK, Siberia, Oct.
3.—So far Central Siberia has granted
no concessions to foreigners, but it is anxious to obtain the co-operation of American capitalists, said V.
N. Bruk, chief of the Foreign Trade Department, here today. The most important field open is the immense area around the mouths of the rivers flowing into the Kara Sea, with great fisheries and many fur animals. Recent expeditions, he said, had proved the practicability of the northern water route.In Mr. Bruk's opinion the wealth available in the far trade, American concessionaires, he moderately estimated at $5,000,000,
and capital required for its exploitation would be perhaps between $1,200,000 and $2,000,000. One British corporation had bid for the concession, but its terms, which included exclusive rights for 10 years, were unacceptable. Russia now proposes that a mixed corporation with half Russian and half foreign capital be formed and given joint control.Fur Trade Development.
Another opportunity lies in the development of the fur trade. American concessionaires, it was intimated, might supply weapons and provisions for hunters in return for special rights."We recognize," said Mr. Bruk,
"that American capital seeking foreign investment needs two things—
security and opportunity for making attractive profits. We are prepared to offer both. While seeking foreign capital, however, we do not propose to submit our people to economic exploitation."Siberian exports through Vladivostok are now about one-fourth of what they were before the war. For 1922 up to date they have amounted in value to $7,500,000. One-half of the exports were furs and the remainder chiefly leather, bristles and the like. Nearly all go to the United States. Mr. Bruk declared that Siberia was too poor to develop her natural export trade to Mongolia
and Central Asia.Recognizing that a future market for agricultural and other machinery was in Siberia, the writer asked Mr. Bruk how American manufacturers would approach it. Orders, he replied, pass through the foreign trade department and Americans desiring of securing business should approach the department, itself and different organizations like the butter, onion and wood trusts and cooperative agricultural societies and the Siberian Agricultural Department.Development of Resources.
"Siberia's buying capacity depends upon the development of her resources," said Mr. Bruk, and he emphasized the point. "At present our lack of capital prevents our making progress. The big opportunity of the United States lies in assisting this development, rather than in the immediate sale of machinery. American commercial development here
is handicapped by the lack of official representation in Russia. This deprives American business men of any official means of communication and of acquiring information. I believe, however, that the visit of Senator King and other American Senators will help to remedy this."In connection with the matter of making conditions in Siberia known to the outside world, the correspondent may add that the authorities have done everything to facilitate the dispatch of his cables. The state news agency possesses a wireless monopoly of Siberian press, telegrams, courteously waited its rights.
The people's commissariat of posts and telegraphs, for the first time in soviet history, arranged to assist him in his work by instructing all stations ahead how to handle his dispatches. It took the unique course of permitting this correspondent's cables to be sent directly over the great northern transiberian lines,
which since the revolution have been used only for messages from places
outside of Russia.2 EGGS A DAY HEN "POSSIBLE" Poultry Experts Believe Such a Fowl May Be Bred.By the Associated Press.
MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 3.— Experiments, conducted at the West Virginia Agricultural Station,
that it may be possible to breed chickens which will lay either two eggs a day or one egg every day of the year, H. G. Knight, the director, announced today.Hen No. 345 has two generative organs, according to the director.
Her record shows, he said, that for three or four days she lays eggs long and narrow, and then for a few days
the eggs are a natural shape. If hens can be bred with two generative organs, according to the expert, it would be possible to have such a chicken lay two eggs a day.Escapes Jail's Bullets.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MT. ERMONT, Ky.—An unidentified youth recently drove through town at 60 miles an hour, escaping
the bullets of Jailer Miller, who had been advised when the fugitive drove off without paying after 10 gallons of gasoline had been put in the car
at Fountain. He had been overtaken near Pine Hill and brought to Jail. The car was identified as one stolen at Columbus, O. While the prisoner was being given supper, the youth bolted and made good his escape.

EMPTY CRADLES ARE

WORRYING ENGLAND

British Officials Express Misgivings Over Future of Race
Due to Birth Rate Decline.Correspondence of the Associated Press.
LEEDS, England, Sept. 12.—England's empty cradles continue to form a subject of animated comment among the newspapers, doctors and sociologists. Not a few British officials express misgivings
over the future of the race if the present rate of decline in births continues.Dr. J. Johnstone Jarvis, Medical Officer of Health for Leeds, in his report for 1922 refers in some striking passages to the subject of birth control. Commenting upon the fall of the birth rate in Leeds from 21.8
to 19.8 per 1000, he says: "How people can, in these circumstances, talk of birth control and the necessity for the reduction of the birth rate, passes comprehension." To talk of the risk of overpopulation with Europe depleted by war, revolution,
famine and disease, and other continents calling out for settlers to occupy their land and develop their industries, is childish folly."This Malthusian myth of overpopulation was exploded long ago,
so one thought, but it has been resurrected, and is again being made to do service in this antiscocial campaign to reduce the birth rate. No one objects to the restriction of the unfit, but to interfere with the birth of the fit—and this seriously is what is intended—is to invite disaster. Let there be no mistake about it, if the British Empire falls, it will not be for lack of money, as so many seem to fear, but for lack of men, and because its sons and daughters have been bred in idleness and luxury."The state also has a duty in the matter, namely, to insure that every parent has an incentive to enable him
to maintain himself and his family
in comfort and health. "If it fails to do this, it fails in that on which most depends our national health and welfare."Veteran Canadian Cartoonist Dies.

EXCERPTS FROM JOURNAL OF GEN. ALLEN WRITTEN DURING RHINE OCCUPATION

It Seems the French Desire a French Republic, and Entry in 1919; Soon Thereafter He Decides Paris Has Eye on Ruhr.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Collier's, in its forthcoming issue, will print the first installment of the journal of Major-General Henry T. Allen, who commanded the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine. Excerpts from the journal follow:

July 17, 1919.—The French are beginning to show signs of wanting to come into the American area. Some small units have already come in, and I imagine that, with the diminution of our forces, they feel that they will be entitled to take over part of this area. Surely we must have a certain area that is all our own, and that shall be my policy unless turned down by higher authority. Germany seems thus far to be endeavoring to carry out the provisions of the treaty.

July 25.—Wrote this morning to the Commander in Chief with reference to our holdings and the desired sharing of them by the French. In certain ways the French have been too active in this area; first by marching troops through Coblenz at various times; then by making surveys of barracks in this town.

Aug. 1.—(Conference with Gen. Pershing.) I set forth the whole matter concerning the division of our area with the French; then read the report made by the two French officers and the one made by me. Gen. Pershing seemed to be convinced, and stated that it is simply another effort of the French to secure a holding in Coblenz; that he had had an issue with Marshal Foch once before on the same subject; that if the French persisted in their demands he would recommend to the President that our troops on the Rhine be withdrawn; and that he would communicate this to Marshal Foch.

Aug. 6.—It seems that the French desire a Rhine republic over which they may exercise a sort of protection. There may be a Rhine republic, but in my opinion it will not tolerate French domination for any considerable period. The British military authorities, our own and our commission, seem to feel that the French do not show the frankness that should be expected.

"French Are Crowding Us."

Aug. 11.—The French are now crowding us here in their earnest efforts to dominate the Rhine; they have gone so far as to require instruction in French to the German children in the Kreis of Simmern.

Aug. 26.—The activities of Dr.

Dorten (would-be President of the Rhine Republic) in the American zone are coming to the front in an acute fashion. I am now positively sure that our policy forbidding any propaganda relative to the Rhine Republic is sound. My only relative to policy in the American area is to leave the Germans as free a hand as is compatible with order and compliance with the provisions of the treaty.

It is estimated that 37,000 undesirable have been sent out of Metz and its environs back into Germany. The city is being galvanized as fast as possible, but it looks far from prosperous. The population was greatly increased by German soldiers; now the same thing is being done by the French soldiery. The city is, in fact, an enormous place.

Sept. 5.—Gen. Mangin spoke at length about the Rhine Republic. He thinks that Dr. Dorten is a "fume affaire d'importance capitale." He thinks that Dr. Dorten believes that the British and Americans are standing out together against the Republic. When I informed him of the Clemençeau nor Poincaré was for it, he replied that M. Poincaré had spoken to him in favor of it.

Wisdom of Magnanimity.

Feb. 28, 1920.—If the storied magnanimity of victors be exercised, it is my opinion that the recovery of Germany will be faster than that of France. Unfortunately, it is very difficult for a Frenchman, situated as he is, to recognize the wisdom of that magnanimity. Their position relative to Germany is so precarious that it is human for them to harbor the conviction that almost any means are justifiable to keep down their ancient and powerful enemy.

March 15.—Gen. Degoutte spoke very plainly at the table concerning the necessity of the alliance with England rather than a friendship between the two countries. He also protested against President Wilson's slightest characterization of the French as militaristic.

COBLENZ, March 27.—All the allies except France favor authorizing German troops to enter neutral territory to suppress the outbreak in the Ruhr Basin; France wants to send allied troops in to accomplish those results. She evidently does not see that her acts are continually increasing Germany's hatred and must have serious influence in the future. It would be a tremendous blunder for allied troops to be moved in there unless it were absolutely impossible for Germany by negotiations or by force, to bring about order in this insurrection.

April 14.—In my opinion, the occupation of Frankfurt and Darmstadt by the French, whether as an earnest, sincere desire to have a guaranty against the recognized technical violation of the treaty in respect to sending troops into the Ruhr by Germany, or as a further step toward keeping Germany down, would be a serious mistake for the welfare of all concerned, but especially for France. While deeply sympathizing with France in her unhappy state, I cannot fail to believe that her leaders are conducting a policy that will eventually injure her.

April 7.—I have just finished a letter to the Ambassador at Paris, indicating that certain events suggest strongly the intention on the part of the French to occupy the Ruhr Basin.

Occupation of Ruhr Visualized.

April 8.—It is obvious that French occupation of the Ruhr has been visualized, but possibly they would prefer control of the Ruhr by the Allied Board of Control in Germany. This thought was expressed during the conversation.

Throughout the several hours passed with Gen. Degoutte, I felt that France's actions are based on fear that Germany will rehabilitate itself and that now is the moment to take every possible measure that may separate the states or elements from Germany, especially with a view to weakening Prussia. All in all, I feel more sorry for France in her plight than ever before, for I realize that she is playing a very dangerous game. In her economic distress and her shortage of manpower, she should really act in concert with her friends and make some sort of livable terms with her arch-enemy rather than increase hostility.

May 8.—The long session with Gen. Degoutte today has been of very much interest, not only with respect to the particular work we had in hand, but in showing me the views that he entertains for his country, faced as it is by the ever-increasing population of Germany. I am persuaded that he recognizes the weakness of France compared with Germany. He also knows that his country cannot compete with either England or the United States for trade. He freely admits that France is afraid of Germany, and, conversely, though he is sure that if Germany does not deliver the coal due France, it should be taken forcibly. He also says that France cannot maintain a big army for a long period because it costs too much money and because all her manpower is needed on the land and in the industries.

Oct. 14.—Whenever Marshal Foch's name appears on any communication, the French members of the allied commission lose sight of the fact that this tribunal or institution is declared the supreme representative of the Inter-Allied and Associated Powers in the occupied territories. To me his name too often suggests a military attitude toward Germany, and I am always apprehensive lest he may have lost sight of the general welfare for the coming years.

Milk and Hungry Children.

Oct. 18.—The Allies are demanding $10,000,000 milk cows from Germany, while the United States is spending large sums of money to ward feeding the undernourished children of Germany. I cannot but feel that the world is still askew and that its various states are working at cross purposes. In fact, this demand seems to be directed against the lives of the children of Germany, however unintentional it may be.

Oct. 29.—The French had a musical evening at the Stadt Theater, with the ballerina Napierkowske as the principal feature. This is a part of the program to implant French culture—thought, customs and ideals—on the Rhine.

Jan. 30, 1921.—I am surprised at the moderation of the German press with respect to the hard terms agreed on by the Paris Conference. They probably feel that an indemnity extending over a period of 42 years will never be fully paid. Unless the Allies stand firmly by France, only a small part will be paid. I feel persuaded that commercial self-interest will in a very few years dictate a decided amelioration of these terms.

March 6.—The French troops are moving north, through our zone to be nearer the towns of Duesseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort, which they propose to occupy unless Germany gives a satisfactory answer.

April 19.—The customs posts became effective at midnight last night. It is beginning to appear that France wants to occupy the Ruhr in favor of it.

regardless of the proposals and promises of Germany.

inquiry investigating the wreck of seven vessels of the squadron off Honda, Cal., Sept. 8. S. L. Huff, in charge of radio and communications aboard the U. S. S. P. Lee, had testified that when the crash came he sent out a message to all ships of the squadron warning them that "the Delphi and Lee are aground."

"Just when was that message sent out?" asked Admiral William V. Pratt, presiding at the inquiry. "At 9:10 p. m., sir."

The Admiral waved his pencil at the witness. "Inasmuch as previous testimony has shown that the last ship to go aground struck at 9:06," he said, "how much of a warning do you think that was. Wouldn't common sense indicate that it was no warning at all?" The witness admitted it would be. During 1922 the Post-Dispatch printed 11,501 Horse and "Wants" — 7938 more than THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

PROGRAM FOR NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

Observance Set for Nov. 18-24, With Special Topics to Be Stressed Each Day.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—American Education week will be observed this year from Nov. 18 to 24, and suggestions made by the Bureau of Education include the designating of certain days for the stressing of special topics connected with education. The American Legion, the National Education Association and other organizations have sponsored the movement, and co-operation with these societies should be the first step in a community program, bureau officials declare.

Plays, pageants, stories, writing of essays, speeches, poster and moving picture exhibitions should play an important part in school and community programs, according to the bureau.

Sermons on Education Urged.

Sunday, Nov. 18, is styled "For God and Country Day" and ministers in all pulpits are invited by the bureau to preach at least one sermon on education.

Monday is "American Constitution Day," set aside for stressing obedience to the law, man's struggles for liberty, the duties of citizenship and education and the ballot. "The Man Without a Country" is a good topic suggested for plays and essays.

Tuesday, "Patriotism Day," is allotted to discussing the duty of voting, honor to the flag of the country, the duty to the foreign born and American ideals.

"School and Teacher Day."

Wednesday, "School and Teacher Day," is devoted to questions about local schools and teachers, the relation of education to civilization, and better training for rural teachers.

Thursday, "Illiteracy Day," is for devising ways and means for the eradication of illiteracy. Data showing the extent of illiteracy and its dangers to the nation and loss economically are suggested as subjects of exhibits and essays.

Friday, "Community Day," is to be given over to consideration of equal opportunity in education for every boy and girl, the needs of the community as to public libraries and community center.

Saturday, "Physical Education Day," is a day for the study of the value of exercise, correct posture and health habits. A "Health Parade" of children is suggested by the bureau.

General Participation Desired.

The value of having all members of the community participate in the activities of the week is important, the bureau believes, no matter how large or small the community may be. Music and addresses, with various activities, such as physical education work and playground projects, should be included to attract adults.

The bureau recently compiled for distribution a pamphlet regarding the programs suggested for the week, including data from which to work, and guides for teachers, school officials, town government officials and others interested in the celebration.

GRAIN MEN CONDEMN POLITICAL THRUSTS AT RAILROAD RATES

Report of Committee Points Out Hazards Facing Her Is Due to Agitation.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 3.—Political clamor for lower freight rates may endanger the nation's transportation system, according to the report of the transportation committee to the convention of the grain dealers national association here.

In presenting the report, Chairman Henry L. Goemann, of Mansfield, Ohio, assailed politicians for misrepresenting the present situation of the railroad in public pronouncements.

"Such political clamor might eventually force the roads into receivership by forcing down rates," he said. "Then Government ownership would follow. With Government ownership would follow high wages through labor's political activity. Higher wages and great bond issues would bring higher rates and at the same time we would have an unprecedented state of transportation inefficiency."

The report opposed indiscriminate legislation against the carriers. "Roads should be permitted a fair return," Goemann said, "and today only a few of them are earning the return allowed them under the law."

TWO MEN WITH REVOLVERS STOPPED Raymond Wyatt of 2348 Carr street, charged for a taxicab company, near Beaumont and Locust streets at 2 a. m. today and made him get out of the cab. They drove away in the cab. 23 hours later the machine was found by policemen abandoned in the rear of 1815 Locust street. It had been damaged about $200 in a collision, apparently.

Browns May Land In the Money If Rivals Fall Dead

Chance for Second Place Exists Mathematically, but is a Remote One.

ONLY FIVE MORE GAMES

Cleveland and Detroit Must Lose Nearly All for Browns to Finish Better Than Fourth.

By Joseph F. Holland.

The mathematical chance of the Browns to finish second or third in the American League race is slowly becoming more mathematical and less probable. Notwithstanding a victory over the Cleveland Indians yesterday, the team finds itself in a position where it must win its five remaining games while Cleveland and Detroit lose five, to finish second, to finish third it must win five while Detroit loses four and wins one, or win four to lose one while Cleveland loses five straight.

The entire situation is highly involved but would be worth considering if the Browns pitching staff were not on the rocks. Danforth and Vangilder are the only dependable pitchers the club now has and both are out of the way for two more days. In that time the Indians may easily slip the Browns out of even their mathematical chance. On the whole, it looks like first division; only that and nothing more.

The Browns play two more games here and then go to Detroit for a series of three. It is possible for them to win all five games from their contending rivals and still finish in fourth place provided Detroit wins two games from the White Sox in the present series and Cleveland takes three straight from Gleason even if it loses the games here today and tomorrow.

Its, and, Pots and Pans.

In the event the Browns win their remaining five games, Cleveland and Detroit win two out of five, the standings of the three clubs would be:

Cleveland ..... 80 73 526316
Detroit ..... 79 72 519737
Browns ..... 79 72 519737

This showing is probably the very worst Cleveland and Detroit will make. However, in the event that Detroit wins three out of five games and Cleveland loses five straight, the Tigers would finish second, 82-70, and would be tied with the Browns and Indians would be tied at 78-74.

The last straw chance, proceeding upon the entirely unwarranted presumption that the Tigers and Indians would finish second and third, would be if the Browns win five straight while the Browns were winning an equal number, would bring about this result:

Browns ..... 79 73 519737
Cleveland ..... 78 74 518158
Detroit ..... 79 72 519737

Presume further that the Indians won four and lost one while the Tigers were losing four out of five and the Browns were winning five straight. In this event Cleveland would finish second with 82-70. The Browns would finish third with 78-73 for a percentage of 51.9737, while the Tigers would be third with 80-74 and a percentage of 51.9451.

Game Not Played With a Pencil. It has been shown that the Browns have a mathematical chance for second place and even for second place, but the players are not spending any of the monetary award attached to either rung in the American ladder. Marty McManus even when he said: "A mathematical chance is something that one man can't do with a pad and pencil that nine can't do with a baseball."

The Browns won yesterday, 10 to 5, by pounding Sherrod Smith and Joe Edwards for six runs in an eighth-inning rally. They were losing 5 to 4 to Sherrod Smith, although hitting him hard up until the eighth, when Smith's own poor play filled the bases with no one out and paved the way for a Cleveland defeat. The Indians this morning are virtually tied with the Tigers for second place, with only one percentage point keeping Cleveland in the runner-up position.

Vangilder allowed the Indians only four hits and the last one was home run by Sherrod Smith in the fourth inning. Only 10 men faced the Cape Girardeau stump jumper in the last five innings.

Ray Kolp pitched today against Joe Edwards. Speaker evidently planned to use all left-handers in this series if he could. He hoisted the game from the bench, hit him not put on his uniform. He sprained his ankle last week and yesterday he was about to be a cane. Thomas allowed only three hits.

Zev and My Own May Meet After Big Match Race

Sinclair Announces Willingness to Arrange Event on Rival Owners' Terms.

By George Daley,

Sports Editor of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Harry P. Sinclair, owner of Zev, will not make a further concession in the matter of starting his good 3-year-old in a trial race with Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own.

On the latter's refusal to let My Own meet Zev at one mile and a half, but at one mile and a half, all chance of a race between the two horses ended.

The Jockey Club committee is now reasonably sure to select Zev to do battle with Papyrus, England's derby winner, in the $100,000 race at Belmont Park on Oct. 26.

Before leaving the city yesterday on a business trip Mr. Sinclair expressed a willingness to have Zev meet My Own at any distance up to one mile and a half for any purse offered within a reasonable time after the international race, whether or not his horse is selected. He made the following statement yesterday afternoon:

"I sincerely deplore the accident to Zev has made it impossible for me to run my horse against My Own at a mile and a half and meet Admiral Grayson's very sportsmanlike offer; an offer which I longed to accept in the same spirit."

"Unfortunately, the merits of the two horses have become a matter of controversy, which I am helpless to satisfy at this time."

"Doubtless My Own or Zev will be selected to meet Papyrus; but whether my horse is chosen or not, I shall be ready to run Zev against My Own at a mile and a half, time and place to be agreed upon, for nothing or any purse that Admiral Grayson may demand, at any reasonable time after Oct. 20."

Would Race Full Distances. Admiral Grayson did not recede from his position that he would not let My Own meet Zev at the full distance of one mile and a half. He still insisted that his home in Washington that the elimination race, to be a test, must be at the same distance as the international fixture.

Incidentally My Own worked five furlongs in a smooth, easy way between the first and second races at the Laurel track in Maryland, yesterday, as an ocular demonstration that he was not sore or lame as reported.

There was no demonstration, according to word from Laurel when My Own went out on the track to prove the falsity of the rumors concerning his condition.

The committee of the Jockey Club is expected to make its selection on Sunday in order to meet the contract with Ben Irish that the American horse would be named 14 days before the race.

The fact that Zev is rated a superior mind horse is almost sure to have some influence on his being named, apart from the fact that his remarkable record this year includes the winning of the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and the Realization.

M'TIGUE WILL DEFEND HIS TITLE TOMORROW AGAINST SCHOOL BOY

By the Associated Press. COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 3.—Mike M'Tigue, Irish holder of the light heavyweight championship title, and "Young" Stribling, youthful Georgia challenger, today completed their training for the title match here tomorrow afternoon. Both confined their workouts to short snuffing up trouts through the countryside.

The older man since he began his training for his bout Thursday at Fort Benning has apparently taken things easy during the week he has been in this vicinity. His trainer and manager, however, declare that he is in the best of condition and predict that he will win easily over the Macon school boy.

Stribling went through a stiff workout with his sparring partners yesterday. He permitted Kid Ruby, Fort Benning middleweight, to hammer him at will in the midriff and laughed at the blows.

Plenty have been laid to care for a crowd of at least 20,000 persons.

No. 2—World's Series Outlook. By Herman Wecker.

Results of the world's series of 1922 showed that a comparison of the pitching records of the two contenders meant nothing. Nevertheless some interesting facts are brought to light by the statistics on the season's work of the Giant and Yankee pitchers.

As was the case a year ago, the American League entry, on paper at least, has far the better of the argument in regard to pitchers who probably will see duty in the title struggle starting at the Yankee Stadium Oct. 16.

In comparing the pitchers of the two clubs for world's series purposes only Pennock, Hoyt, Bush, Shawkey and Jones are figured for the Yankees. The Giant hurlers considered are Watson, McQuillan, Ryan, Scott, Bentley and Nehf. These men are regarded as the "aces" of their respective staffs.

Pitchers Relieved 104 Times. One of the important details brought to light by the figures on the season is the frequency with which John McGraw has been forced to call upon a relief pitcher. Records show that the six men who have been the Giants' main relievers have hurled only 57 complete games. They also show that McGraw has been called upon to replace them on 104 occasions.

Figures further show that McQuillan, who has not pitched since Sept. 15, has hurled 14 complete games, more than any other member of the National League entrant's staff. Next in line is Jack Bentley, the $65,000 outpour, with 12. Jack Scott, who has won 16 games and lost but six, has gone the full distance only nine times, while Roy Ryan, with a 15-5 record, has finished what he started on seven occasions. Watson has hurled eight complete games and Southpaw Nehf only seven.

While McGraw's pitchers have pitched in only 57 full games, the records show that the five hurlers relied on by Huggins to capture the A. L. flag have gone the distance 95 times, while they have been replaced only 12 times, just half as many as the Giants' relievers. Each one of the Yankee flunkies has hurled more complete games than McQuillan, the Giants' leader in this respect. Pennock and Bush have each pitched 21. Hoyt has worked in 18, Jones 18 and Shawkey 16.

Huggins has been forced to send a mate to the relief of Shawkey more than for any of his stars. Bob the Gob has been replaced 15 times, while Silent Sam Jones, who pitched the first no-hit game of the season, is next with 12. Bush and Hoyt have been changed on nine occasions and Pennock only seven times. Which seems to indicate that Huggins has a hand of hit artists able to start what they finish.

With the Yankees owning a big advantage in this feature, they also have the better of it in efficiency. Huggins' "Big Five" in 1216 innings have permitted 517 runs, an average of 2.87 runs every nine innings. The six Giant flunkies, on the other hand, have been scored upon 530 times in 1144 rounds, an average of 4.32. The Yankee pitchers have permitted 118 hits and those of the Giants 1148.

Injury May Keep Wallie Pipp Out Of Title Series

Ankle of First Sacker Is Still Black and Blue and Badly Swollen.

RUTH ALSO IS LIMPING

Leading Slugger Is Using Cane Following Accident in Exhibition Contest.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Walter Pipp, first baseman of the Yankees, may not be able to play in the world's series. The strain he suffered in his right ankle at Boston last Friday is a worse injury than at first thought and the "pickler" is still limping.

Ed Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, thinks Pipp will be able to play. Col. Bill Pipp, father of the baseman, who is here for the series, mournfully shakes his head and says he doesn't think the boy will be able to make it. The ankle is black and blue and still badly swollen.

If Pipp is unable to play the Yankees will be forced to use Babe Ruth, Bobby Meusel or Elmer Smith at first base. They can't use Lou Gehrig, the Columbia clouter. It isn't on the eligible list and it was reported that John McGraw had said he wouldn't agree to let Gehrig play if the Yankees requested it, which they probably won't. The Robins allowed the Cleveland Indians to use Joe Sewell, an ineligible player, at short, in 1920, but that came about through the death of Ray Chapman.

The Giants worked out on the Yankee stadium again yesterday. They assert that the shadows cast by the grandstand about 2 o'clock are very confusing and that the back-ground for hitting purposes is none too good. The Yankees probably will take a turn at the Polo Grounds on Monday or Tuesday next. They are well acquainted with the field, but the additions to the Bronx stadium stands in the outfield have changed the shadows and they left last fall and they wish to get familiar with them again.

Ruth Also Has Bad Ankle. Like Pipp, Babe Ruth has a bad ankle. He is coming here to play with the Giants in a benefit game at the Polo Grounds, but Miller Linn, a telegrapher yesterday said the big hitter couldn't be counted on to appear for long.

He was out of the Yankee lineup in Baltimore yesterday, and was hobbling about with a cane. Hughes doesn't care to have him take any chances that will keep him out of the game for the world's series.

GOLF TOURNAMENT AT NATIONAL CONVENTION OF RESTAURANT MEN

By the Associated Press. CINCINNATI, Oct. 3.—A golf tournament has been arranged as a special feature of the entertainment program when restaurateurs from all parts of the United States and Canada assemble in Cincinnati the week of Oct. 8, for the convention of the National Restaurant Association. Lawrence J. O'Brien, of Chicago, chairman of the golf tournament committee, after inspecting the various golf courses, concluded arrangements for holding the tournament at the Western Hills Country Club.

The prize awards will include 12 cups, two of which will be championship trophies. The President's Cup, donated by J. O. Mills, president of the association, will be awarded the restaurateur who makes the best showing on the links. A trophy contributed by the National Restaurant Association, to be conferred upon the champion of the tournament. The tournament will be open only to restaurateurs and representatives of associated industries who attend the convention.

Local Rotarians are planning a reception for Guy Gundacker of Philadelphia, vice-president of the Restaurant Association, and president of the International Rotary who is to be one of the convention speakers.

MISSOURI BASKETBALL PRACTICE OPENS TODAY

By the Post-Dispatch. COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 3.—Coach George Bond has called the first University of Missouri basketball practice for today and will begin work immediately with those of his regulars who are not members of the football squad, and with the graduates of last year's freshman aggregation.

Bond is expected to have a hard time filling the places left vacant by the graduation of Bunker and Brown last year, in spite of the fact that he will have a large squad of veterans and likely looking sophomores with whom to start his practice campaign. Bob Hays, Jerry Lewis and John Welsh, all three of whom are regulars on the Tiger football team, will not, of course, report for basketball until the first of December, but Capt. Faurot, Wheat, Lutz and several other veterans are expected to be on hand for the first week's practice session.

WRAY COLVYAN

Pa-PY-rus Will Be Pie.

EVEN loyal Britons cannot see how Papyrus can overcome the many obstacles confronting him and bring home that $80,000 bacon by beating Zev or My Own. The English horse not long since was beaten by Tranquil in the St. Leger. He must overcome the handicaps of a long ocean voyage, a change in water, the shift from grass to a dirt track, the reverse system of running from that to which he has been accustomed, and a clinch far different from that in which he was reared.

The training period of three weeks is all too little time in which to adjust the British representative to altered conditions. In short, only a miracle horse could overcome such handicaps and win.

The race would seem almost at the mercy of the American contender, whichever the selection may be.

That's why a British bookie recently laid $10,000 to $5000 on the short end of it was taken by an American, incidentally—that Papyrus will not win, no matter what horse is sent against him.

And this is the race the public will be asked to pay a top price of $22 to view!

Real "Sportsmen"?

THE horse race to the American representative to be sent against Papyrus is becoming unseemly bitter, in fact. It is all due, apparently, to the promoters' desire to favor the owner of the Ranocosa Stable, owned by the powerful multimillionaire, Harry Sinclair. The Ranocosa Stable is the greatest barn in the country. In number and quality of horses it maintains. The Jockey Club has no desire to offend this great prop of the "sport of kings" and book-makers.

If this were not so, why was not the original program carried out of that giving the privilege of meeting the English horse to the winner of the Trial Stakes, My Own?

Zev's connections were fully advised that the race was to be a test.

Injuries and other subterfuges were alleged to keep Zev out of the test. Now comes the claim that Zev's record entitles him to the post of honor, without his having to meet My Own in a test.

Real Test Declined.

MY OWN'S stable strategists offered a match race at the full distance, but Zev's handlers declined with thanks. Under pressure of public criticism they offered a race a distance inadequate as a test, one and one-eighth miles.

The Jockey Club's plain duty is to prove to the fullest that the injury to Zev, reported as an excuse for remaining out of the test race, has fully recovered by making the horse run against My Own for the FULL DISTANCE.

Failing to gain Sinclair's consent, the Selection Committee is in duty bound to name My Own. No assumption of superiority on the part of Zev's connections should be entertained, for, from a standpoint of sportsmanship, My Own is entitled to equal consideration.

A gross injustice will be done if a race is not FORCED on Zev, since the honor and the $80,000 both are almost certain to go to the American opponent of Papyrus, whether it be My Own or Zev.

Dead Ones, That's All.

DISPATCHES say that Sam Langford and Jack Johnson have been matched. After that, how about a rousing return engagement between Julius Caesar and Verelington?

You Never Can Tell.

JOCK MALONE and Frank Carbone were deprived of $2300 worth of boxing guarantees here for what was universally considered a farce-fight. The men boxed so badly that the crowd and officials hurt their throats protesting. The fighters argued that it was because of Malone's cleverness that Carbone looked so bad, despite his good reputation.

Carbone made a good reputation down South. Inquiry sent to Fred Digby, sports editor of the Item, brought the following reply:

"Carbone fought 12 fights in all, in New Orleans, and made a favorable impression in all but one, although he lost. His best fights were with Happy Littleton. Jack Malone is the type of fighter who would make Carbone look TERRIBLE. Carbone probably has slipped back some in the last year."

Digby is a good judge. He managed that good fighter, Martin Burke. He knows whereof he speaks. And yet, had he sat at the ringside, it would have been hard for him to believe the Malone exhibition an honest-to-goodness CONTEST.

The gentlemen were merely picking up a little easy change with the minimum desire to get hurt.

All in the Game.

It sounds extremely brutal to suggest that a boxing match is not one, unless someone is smeared up. And yet, such is the prevailing distrust of the game and its exponents that unless visible damage is accomplished by the part of the public who usually suspect that somehow they have been deceived.

Baffled in their attempts to specifically prove anything, they have fallen back on a "show me" attitude that can only be altered by blood—yes, just that. The contest must contain a knockdown or be a little sanguinary to save the taste of the modern.

Witness the enthusiastic roars of 30,000 fans at the Firpo fight and the national chorus of approval heard everywhere after it, indicating that the public worships at the shrine of the bludgeon rather than at that of the block or parry.

The "manly art of self-defense" today has become the delectable science of knocking them stiff.

Doctors' Tourney Postponed.

On account of the change in the program of the Air Meet, the tournament of the St. Louis Doctors' Golf Club, which was to have been held on Friday afternoon, Oct. 12, has been postponed to Friday afternoon, Oct. 19. The tournament will be held at the Midland Valley Country Club.

Pikers Engage in Hard Scrimmage With Freshmen

Claypool at Fullback and Lyle at Quarter Play Well—Line Improves Steadily.

Washington University's football machine had its stiffest practice of the season at Francis Field yesterday afternoon in preparing for the annual game with the Missouri School of Mines team here Saturday.

After the preliminaries, the regulars lined up against Coach Don White's freshmen and for more than 45 minutes the two teams struggled up and down the field. The freshman squad this year is a formidable aggregation and includes a number of the most promising players seen on the Pikeaway in several years. They are a husky lot, numbering well over 40 and many of them have had plenty of experience.

All these things considered, it is no wonder that the varsity was just able to hold the upper hand in yesterday's struggle. Every yard of ground was well disputed and it took all the skill of the varsity backs to score. The regulars scored twice, once on a plunge and again on a forward pass, while the yearlings tallied once.

Claypool starred for the varsity. This former Soldan star hit the line and plunged like a man inspired. His forward passing was as accurate as ever, and his spirited play indicates that the Piker fullback is in for a big year. Quarterback Lyle also played a bang-up game. The coaches have been pleased with his handling of the team, and Massengale and Thrasher will have to hustle if they are to take his job away from him. Floun and Weber have not been showing the class expected of them. Floun will look great on one play only to play like a beginner on the next one, while Weber has been suffering from a lack of "pep."

The line, however, seems to show marked improvement every day. Kufus, who had been suffering from a slight injury, took his turn at one of the guards yesterday and seemed entirely fit. Well, Singer and Ingamells, each weighing well over 185 pounds, alternated with the veteran. With these four men to choose from Coach Wimberly will be able to show a pair of good men to work on either side of Capt. "Buddy" Cantwell.

The Pikers will hold their first football mass meeting in the gymnasium Friday night. The new coaches will be introduced and Coach Hadley will give a short address.

By the Associated Press. WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 3.—An advance guard of the nation's leading golfers today were trying out at the Wichita Country Club course over which the annual midcontinent golf tournament will be played Thursday, Friday and Saturday. That Gene Sarazen, national professional champion, Walter Hagen, former national open champion, and other celebrated golfers will not have everything their own way was indicated when better than par 72 scores were turned in by lesser lights in practice rounds.

Many of the Chicago delegation, including Jack Hutchinson, former national open champion; Bob McDonald, Eddie Loos and Mike Brady of Detroit are expected to arrive some time today. The Eastern shooters—Sarazen, Hagen, Robert Cruikshank, Joe Kirkwood and others—are expected tonight.

FINALS IN KIRKWOOD GOLF TOURNAMENT TO BE PLAYED SUNDAY, OCT. 14

On account of the air meet the time for playing the championship class final in the annual Kirkwood Country Club golf tournament has been extended one week and now can be played on or before Sunday, Oct. 14.

The time for playing the semifinals in the other classes has also been extended and can be played on or before Saturday, Oct. 13. The finals are to be played Sunday, Oct. 14. The pairings for the second round are: Championship—Allen vs. Rotter; Dralle vs. Bryan; Jennings vs. Stribling; Wagener vs. Marshall. Class A—Chapman vs. McCalland; Wright vs. Williams; Lee vs. Vernon; Hood vs. Bruggeman. Class B—Kerby vs. McMichael; Stoberg vs. Hartick; Morgenthaler vs. McCain; Dowlin vs. Lavigne. Class C—McCorkle vs. Bain; D. Mitchell vs. Bridell; Wheeler vs. Parks; Moore vs. Gruner. Class D—Minor vs. Koch; Coyle vs. Patterson; Wilson vs. Scott; Elliott vs. Harris.

Rickard Ready to Match Carpentier

Frenchman Probably Will Box Tom Gibbons if He Comes to America.

By Fair Play.

(Copyright, 1923.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—"Yes," said Tex Rickard today, "I think it would be very attractive to put Carpentier against Gibbon. If the French fighter is coming here next month as he says and is ambitious to fight, I think he can be accommodated."

Rickard, however, did not fire up over this announced visit of Carpentier as he would have done before the Frenchman was toppled by Siki. A year ago Carpentier promised Tex he would come here to meet Gibbons and then weighed on his promise.

He weighed in the most irritating manner. That is to say, by silence. Cable as he would, Rickley could get no reply from Descamps, the manager, nor from Carpentier, the meat ticket.

Now Rickard's turn has come. He intimated that upon the next occasion Descamps would do most of the talking and he most of the listening.

Just the same, a scrap between Carpentier and Tommy Gibbons, the two polished gentlemen of the ring, would be a very gorgeous affair from a gate receipt standpoint, and Tex will not overlook this fact.

Missouri Coach Seeks Reserves For Backfield

Recruits Lack Experience and Weight—Team Needs Long Practice at Tackling.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 3.—With Al Lincoln in the backfield and Herbert Bunker in the line, the University of Missouri freshmen football team, heavily reinforced by the two old grads, met the Tiger varsity yesterday afternoon in the first scrimmage between the two aggregations since the Tigers defeated the yearlings last Saturday.

Coach Henry gave his backfield veterans only a few minutes of work and devoted the rest of the scrimmage time, which occupied more than half of the two-hour practice period, to trying out second-string men in hope of developing some of the reserve backfield material which he needs so severely. Simpson, Buckner, Schlemmer, Graham, Castle, Casteel and several others had a chance at fullback and the halves, while Scannell and Moulder continued to call the signals.

In the line Henry made frequent changes, but it was evident that he was devoting much of his attention to his search for backs. The rookies looked good in spots but they lacked both the weight and the experience which have given Fowler, Bond and Whitman first call at the ball carrying positions.

Capt. Don Faurot of the Tiger basketball team had the longest period of work of any of the wing candidates. Faurot looked good at a part of the game, but like a majority of the Tigers, he has yet to learn to tackle, and the lack of tackling ability seems likely to be one of the most serious propositions which the Tigers will have to solve in their game with Springfield next Saturday.

Plans for Homecoming.

Plans for the annual University of Missouri homecoming celebration, which this year will be held Nov. 10, when the Tigers meet the University of Oklahoma, are being rushed to completion by the several committees which have the arrangements in charge. Next to the football game, the big feature of the program will be an outdoor mass meeting, to be held on Rollins Field the night before the game.

Last year, the first time the mass meeting was held out of doors, more than 10,000 persons were present, and a system of voice amplification made it possible for all of them to hear the speakers who spoke from the center of the gridiron. This year an even larger crowd is expected, and, in addition, the entire program will be broadcast by radio, so that other thousands of Tiger followers who are unable to come to Columbia for the event, will hear the speaking and the cheers. The play-by-play report of the game also will be broadcast.

CARDS' GAME FRIDAY WITH CUBS POSTPONED FOR THE AIR RACES

Friday's scheduled game between the Cardinals and Chicago Cubs has been postponed until Sunday. It was announced by Secretary Clarence Lloyd of the Cardinal club this morning. The postponement was made because of the air races. One game will be played Saturday and a double-header Sunday, the first game starting at 1:45 p. m.

Colletti Fouls McCoy.

By the Associated Press. SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 3.—Johnny McCoy, the Cleveland "skeeter," had Pascal Colletti of New Orleans in bad shape in the eighth round of their 15-round bout here last night when Colletti struck McCoy low three times and the referee awarded the contest in a foul. McCoy weighed 115½ pounds and Colletti 117½ pounds.

GOVERNMENT SUE BY SIOUX INDIANS FOR $700,000,000

Largest Claims Involved Are for Value of Millions of Acres Taken in Dakota Region.

SOME ARE FOR WOOD TAKEN FOR STEAMERS

Every Cause of Action or Complaint the Tribes May Have Lumped Into Gigantic Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 3.—Evidence is being gathered in the suit of the Sioux Indians against the United States Government, by which the Sioux hope to collect $700,000,000.

The suit of the Sioux embodies some 40 different actions and presents the largest claim ever brought against the United States Government in any court.

The Indians seek to recover for the misappropriation of Indian lands and for alleged failure to fulfill treaty obligations. The Indians say they received no compensation and that the entire Sioux nation did not officially consent to the cession of the Black Hills region.

17,500,000 Acres Involved.

The suit involves an aggregate of 17,500,000 acres of lands of which 5,125,000 acres are west of the forks of the Cheyenne River. In the extreme western part of South Dakota, in the counties of Harding, Butte, Lawrence, Meade, Pennington and Fall River. This territory was taken by the United States Government under an act of April 28, 1877. The Indians ask the Court of Claims to fix a fair value of the land in 1875, and to give judgment for that amount.

The suit also includes the balance alleged to be due for 9,400,000 acres opened to white settlement under the act of March 2, 1889, including the territory north of the White River, south of the Cheyenne River and west of the east boundaries of Perkins and Meade counties. It also includes a claim for land taken by the Government by the change in the southern boundary of old Dakota Territory in 1882.

To Settle Claims Finally.

A general accounting of all tribal funds also is asked for by the Sioux. Therefore all the funds belonging to the seven different branches of the Sioux Indians are involved. The suit also includes claims for the taking by soldiers and Missouri River steamboatmen of wood and hay along the Missouri River, confiscation of ponies and other property during the Sioux war of 1876, killing by whites of big game on the Sioux reservations, and separate claims for each branch of the Sioux for misappropriation of lands.

The suit is instituted under an act of Congress of comparatively recent date, which confers special jurisdiction on the Court of Claims to adjust equitably all matters and differences between the United States and the Sioux tribes. Charles H. Burke, commissioner of Indian affairs, has insisted that the attorneys for the Sioux include all claims of every nature, so that when the suit is disposed of, there never again can be any question as to the past relations of the Sioux Indians with the United States Government. "Settle it once and for all," is the order of Commissioner Burke.

It is expected it will take several months to assemble all the evidence and prepare it for presentation.

SCHOOL TAX ISSUE IN HAWAII

Affects Private Institutions Conducted by Foreigners.

HONOLULU, Sept. 9.—Private schools in Hawaii conducted by nationals other than those of the Far East may be compelled to pay the tax of one dollar annually for each pupil enrolled, which was set by the alien language school laws adopted by the recent Legislature, according to some legal authorities. The situation has arisen because the Makiki Language School is incorporated and teaches English as well as Japanese. If this institution is compelled to pay the tax, the other private schools, conducted mainly by Americans and English, which teach any foreign language, must pay the tax, likewise, it is contended.

NEW SPECIES OF WILD SHEEP

Discovery in Yukon River Country Reported by Hunter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. TACOMA, Wash.—Discovery of a strange species of wild sheep in a rugged section of the Yukon River country, likely never before visited by white men, is reported by Charles Olson, renowned Arctic hunter and guide, who has just returned from the North. The sheep are absolutely snow white and when on a field of snow are invisible when but a short distance away.

The animals are so tame that Olson and two companions could almost walk up to them. Olson was accompanied by Wiley Hunter of Fairbanks, N. Y., and an Indian.

Friendly Dirt in the Drain Pan

Have you ever wondered where the dirt in the drain pan comes from? Thank the melting ice that the dirt is out instead of inside the ice box—for the melting ice absorbs food odors and impurities, carrying them off where they cannot be dangerous to health.

NAVY'S HOPES IN PULITZER TROPHY RACE

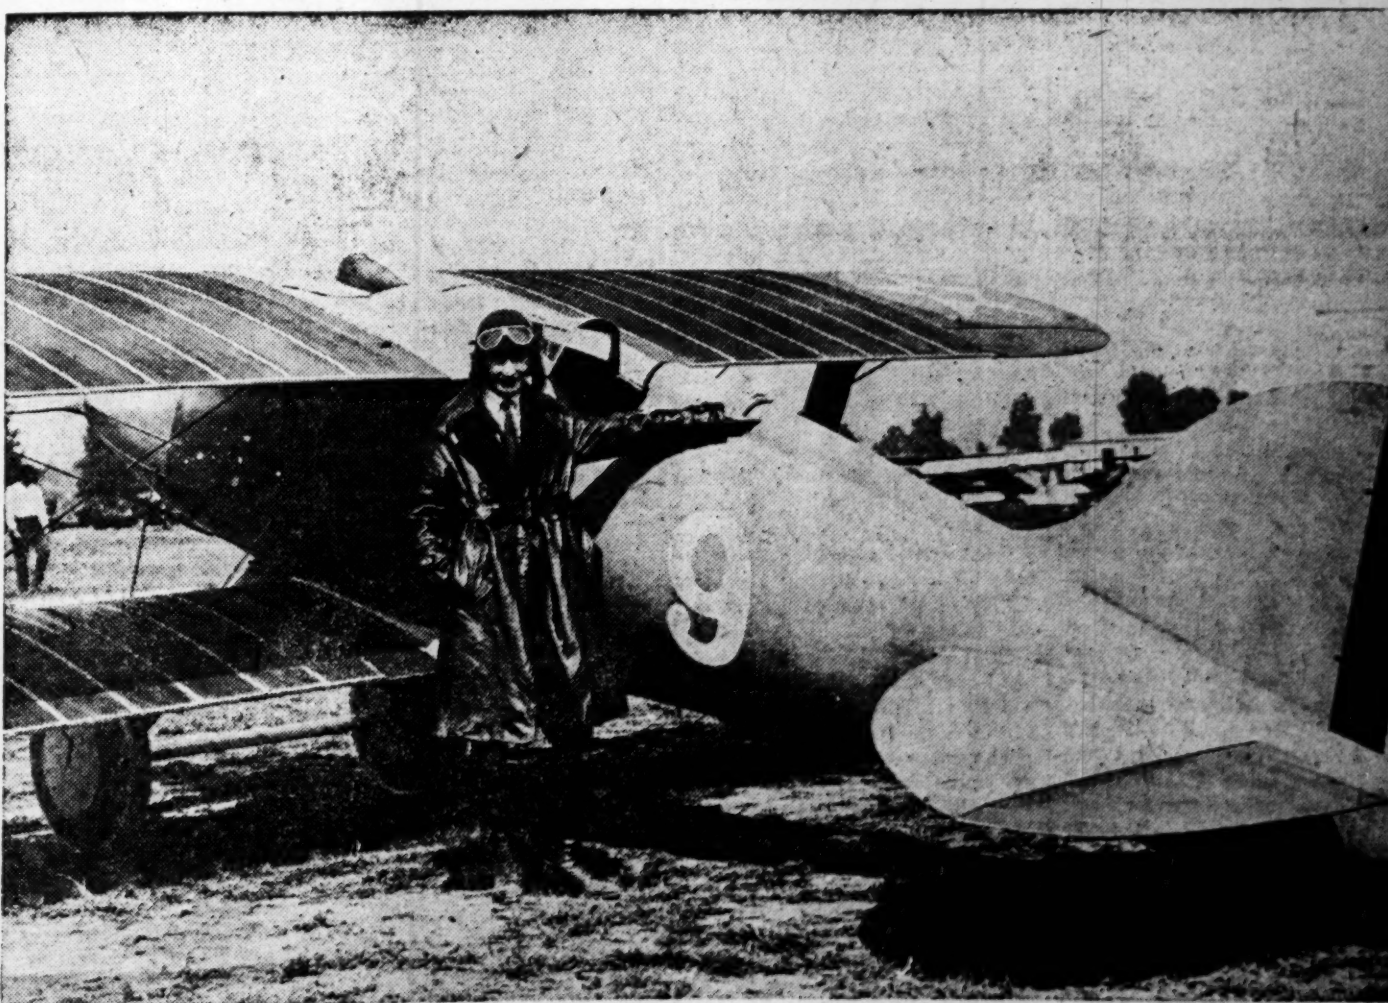

These four trim little planes look something like bugs and they are—speed bugs. They are the Navy's Curtiss racers that are entered in the Pulitzer Trophy race, Saturday, and they have made speeds said to exceed 250 miles an hour in trials.

Why "Myocarditis" May Follow Another Disease

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MAKING up the chief substance of the heart walls is the muscular structure called the myocardium. As a matter of fact the powerful muscle fibers furnish a large part of the heart tissue.

We are familiar with the various forms of inflammation attacking the muscles of the trunk and limbs. The pain and other symptoms of muscle inflammation make a combination which we describe as "rheumatism."

When inflammation attacks one of the voluntary muscles it is not so important because the suffering muscle can be put at rest by bandaging. But when an involuntary muscle—one over which the will-power has no control—is diseased, it is a different story.

Inflammation of the heart muscle is called "myocarditis." It is a disagreeable and serious disease.

Some diseases, probably most diseases, are primary diseases. By this I mean they are diseases which strike directly at some structure or organ, without involving other tissues beforehand, in the manner that pneumonia attacks the lungs.

Fortunately for us the heart, an organ so vital to our happiness and life itself, is guarded from attack. With most people it never shows a sign of disturbance throughout a long life. If we could so live as to avoid the preventable diseases

there would be few cases of heart disease.

Myocarditis is always secondary to some other ailment. Just look at the long list of diseases which may be followed by myocarditis. In this list we find diphtheria, tonsillitis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, influenza, pneumonia, smallpox, tuberculosis and ptomaine poisoning. There are others, but this gives you an idea of why certain diseases are treacherous and highly dangerous.

There are two types of myocarditis, the acute and the chronic. It is the first, the acute form, which we will consider today. This is one of the causes of sudden death. Do not be alarmed, because myocarditis need not necessarily be fatal, but, as I have said, it is always serious.

Rapid pulse, irregularity in its beat and low blood-pressure are among the symptoms. Paleness, vomiting, restlessness, fainting and pain in the chest are other familiar symptoms.

Absolute quiet in bed is necessary. This should be insisted upon until the pulse is normal. It is not safe to permit any exercise till trifling causes no longer excite the heart.

Two or three weeks after the irritable heart has acted in a normal way, the victim may sit up in

Yourself

By J. J. MUNDY.

EVER try finding fault with yourself?

No? But it is a good thing to do, however.

Try to be perfectly impersonal, and then begin to look for flaws.

If you are honest you will discover more faults and weaker spots than your friends have guessed about you.

Now, for instance, have you not done things this very day that you regret?

Were you not unnecessarily cross when you got up this morning?

Were you not abrupt and rude to someone who has a right to expect courteous treatment from you?

Try giving yourself a good inspection every night.

You will be glad that everyone does not know what you know about yourself and the best of it is that, knowing these faults, you have a chance to rectify them.

It need not take long, but it is a good thing to give your conscience a job and a prod once in a while.

Is it not better to do it for yourself rather than discover it through the words of a friend or an enemy?

bed. From this time forward he can gradually increase the amount of his daily exercise. Ultimately the heart returns to normal action.

A Continued Story

FROM NOW ON

The night air came gratefully cool upon his face. He drew it in in great, gasping breaths, greedily, hungrily. He had gained the fire escape through the window now, and now he paused for the first time to listen. There was no sound. Back there inside the house it was as still as death. Death! Well, why shouldn't it be, there was death there, and—

His arms tightened suddenly in a great, overwhelming paroxysm of fear around Teresa, and he bent his head, bent it lower, lower still, until his face was close to that white face he eyed, and through the darkness his eyes searched it in an agony of apprehension.

And then he started forward again, and began to descend the fire escape; and now he groped unsteadily for foothold as he went. It seemed rickety that sprawled against the side of the wall, and it was dark, and without care the foot would slip through the openings between the treads. It had not seemed that way when he had gone up and down when disposing of the valises. Only now it was a priceless burden that he carried—this form that lay close-pressed against his breast, whose touch, alternately now, brought him a sickening sense of dread, and a surging hope that sent the blood leaping like a mill-race through his veins.

He went down, step after step, his mind and brain shrieking at him to hurry because there was not a single second to lose—but it was slow, maddeningly slow. He could not see the treads, not only because it was dark, but because Teresa's form was in his arms. He could only feel with his feet—and now and then his body swayed to preserve his balance.

Was there no end to the thing? It seemed like some bottomless pit of blackness into which he was descending. And it seemed as though this pit held an abominable significance in its blackness and its depth, as though it beckoned him on to engulf them; it seemed—it seemed—God, if she would only move, if she would not lie so still, so terribly still in his arms!

Another step—another—and then his foot, searching out, found only space beneath it. He must free one arm now, so that he could cling to the bottom tread and lower himself to the ground. It was only a short drop, he knew, for the lower section of the fire escape was one of those that swung on hinges, and when, previously, coming up, Teresa had held it down for him, he had been able to reach it readily with a spring from the ground. But he dared not jump even that short distance now with Teresa, wounded, in his arms.

He changed her position now to throw her weight into the hollow of his left arm, lifting her head so that it lay high upon his shoulder—and with the movement her hair brushed his lips. It brought a sudden, choking sob from Dave Henderson, and in a great, yearning impulse he let his head sink down until his cheek for an instant was laid against hers—and then, the muscles of his right arm straining until they cracked, he lowered himself down and dropped to the ground.

He ran now, lurching, across the yard, and out into the lane, and here he paused again to listen. But he heard nothing. He was clear of that cursed trapdoor now—if he could only keep clear! He ran on again, stumbling again, with his burden. And now, though he did not pause to listen any more, it seemed as though his throbbing eardrums caught the sounds at last that they had been straining to hear. Wasn't that the police behind there now—on the street in front of "The Iron Tavern"? It sounded like it—like the arrival of a police patrol.

He reached the shed where he had hidden the valises, entered, and laid Teresa tenderly on the floor. He used his flashlight then—and a low moan came from his lips. The bullet had cut across the side of her neck just above the shoulder; the wound was bleeding profusely, and over the package of banknotes, around which her arms were still tightly clasped, there had spread a crimson stain. He drew her arms gently apart, laid the package on the floor, and then, wrenching one of the valises open, snatched at the first article of linen that came to hand.

His lips trembled, as he did his best to staunch the flow of blood and bind the wound.

"Teresa! Teresa!" Dave Henderson whispered.

Her eyes opened—and smiled. She made an effort to speak. He bent his head to catch the words.

"Dave—where—where are we? Still in the house?"

"No!" he told her feverishly. "No! We're clear of that. We're in the shed here in the lane where I took the valises."

She made a slight affirmative movement of her head.

"Then go—go at once—Dave—for help!"

Her eyes had closed again.

"Yes!" he said. His voice was choking. He called her name, "Teresa!" There was no answer. She had lapsed back into unconsciousness. And then the soul of him spoke its agony. "Oh, my God, Teresa!" he cried brokenly, and swayed to his feet.

valise, closed the valise, carried it into a darker corner of the shed, and went to the door. He looked out. There was no one in sight in the darkness. But then, what interest would the police have in this section of the lane? There was nothing to connect it with "The Iron Tavern." He stepped outside, and broke into a run down the lane, heading for the intersecting street in the opposite direction from "The Iron Tavern." He must get help! A queer, mirthless laugh was on his lips. A wounded woman in the lane was the connecting link with "The Iron Tavern." And yet he must get help. Well, there was only one source from which he dared ask help—only one—Millman.

He ran on. Millman! Something within him rebelled at that. But Teresa was perhaps—was—No, he would not let his mind even frame the word. Only one thing was paramount now—she must have help at once. Well, God knew, he could trust Millman! Only there seemed some strange irony here that chastened him. And yet—Yes, this was strange, too! Suddenly he became strangely content that it should be Millman.

He reached the street, and looked up and down. It was 4 o'clock in the morning, and the street was dark and deserted except for a single lighted window that shone out halfway down the block. He ran toward it. It proved to be an all-night restaurant, and he entered it, and asked for the telephone, and shut himself up in the booth.

A moment more and he had the St. Lucien Hotel on the wire.

"Give me Mr. Millman—Mr. Charles Millman," he requested hurriedly.

The hotel operator answered him. It was impossible. A guest could not be disturbed at that hour. It was against the rules, and—

Ragout of Artichokes.

PARIS—A good washday dish is ragout of artichokes—easy to prepare and requires little watching. Clean carefully eight little onions and brown in butter. Clean two tender artichokes and remove the leaves and grassy portions. Cut the hearts into small pieces and add to the onions with about six potatoes cut into small pieces. Salt, pepper and add plenty of butter. Cover the casserole as tightly as possible. Put on the side of the stove to simmer slowly for one and one-half hours.

Serve very hot with the meat sauce or as a separate dish. One may leave the hearts of the artichokes whole if one prefers.

AFTER a radiant, romantic, adventurous summer, she has come to that first moment of looking back upon it all—looking back from the every-day surroundings of home. It was a wonderful summer! Everybody might have the sunlit radiance, but not everybody could have quite the same lovely adventures, or be able to read in these adventures the outlines of real romance.

Of course, the romance meant that there was ONE man who was different from all the others. The others do not come back vividly in memory. HE does. They say summer romances don't last. Sour grapes! This one WAS different. It IS different!—Peggy Prentice.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

DAY DREAMS.

Dream a little day-dream as you go along, just to bring you gladness when the day is long; dreams as sweet as roses in their garden closes when the bud uncloses. Dreams as sweet as song! When life grows too weary, dream a little then; passing into Dreamland, leave the marts of men. When the storm-clouds thunder, when hearts break in sunder, touch the earth with wonder with your dreams again. Keep a day-dream waiting for the way that's dark, till your heart goes winging, singing like the lark! Let your thoughts grow fonder as on dreams you ponder, till you've wealth to squander; when the dreams come, hark! Day-dreams flitting gaily like the butterfly, how they lend us gladness as the years go by! Work makes men regretful; they grow worn and fretful, of their joys forgetful till a dream comes nigh! Learn to weave a day-dream, every one of you; dream all hearts are tender, dream all hearts are true! To a day-dream's measure find yourself new treasure, sweet and tranquil pleasure, fresh as morning dew! There are many wise who prize them more than gold, for they've learned earth's fairer for the dreams they hold! Birds go fleetly winging, brooks are clearer singing, bells are clearer ringing when their dreams unfold. Clasp your day-dreams nearer as slow age creeps on, count your visions dearer when winged youth is gone; dream your childhood over, sweet as fragrant clover, dream of maid and lover, till dusk glows like dawn!

ICE CREAM

TAKE one and one-fourth cups of milk, three-fourths cup of sugar, and the yolks of two eggs; cook this mixture till thick in a double boiler, stirring constantly, then set it away to cool. When cool, add one cup of heavy cream (do not whip it), one teaspoon of vanilla and the two egg whites beaten stiff. To make coffee ice cream of this recipe, add one-fourth cup of strong coffee. To make macaroon cream of it, add eight macaroons finely crushed.

CAMPING DAYS

By Winifred Black

THE campers are home. When the cold days came and the call of the city rose clear we met them on every road, brown and red and travel-stained, and tired and smug and muggy, and crumpled and crinkled and happy as larks. Girls in khaki, boys in khaki, too; old men and old women in khaki, for that matter—some in fine touring cars and some in little flivvers loaded to the top of the roof with bedding and frying pans and extra coats and patent stoves and fishing rods and guns, and always somewhere about the vehicle a pail blackened with the smoke of the campfire.

Jolliest of all were the cars where the children rode—the little rascals, how they hamed to come home and think of school and regular hours, and clean hands and faces, with fingernails to be remembered and hair combed.

How They Loved It All.

Oh, there was plenty of company at the "Inn of the Silver Moon" all the days of summer.

Up in the mountains they went to the deep, cold lakes; down into the forests they hiked, to camp beside clear streams and along the shore of the wild sea—there they were camping. Pa and ma and the girls usually camped together. The boys seemed to camp by themselves a good deal, in groups of six or a dozen. What brown, tanned, sturdy rascals they were, and how they did love the freedom and the gaiety of it all!

Long ago it was over and all they can do now is to talk about it evenings, and sigh and count the days till June again.

And somehow the crowded city smells of resin and tarweed and pine cones and sweetgrass. The girl who stands at the counter beside you in the shop has in her eyes a vision of the stars, for she has slept for weeks under the fragrant pines and she has watched the North Star keep his vigil and she knows the difference between the color of the moon in June and the moon in August.

And she will never be quite the same little-minded soul she was before she looked into the Infinite and knew what moonrise meant, and how all the ferns and wild things wait for it and tremble in a kind of ecstasy in the little wind that blows before the dawn.

"The boy in the bank there in the steel cage—he hears yet the rush of wild water in the deep forest and there has come to him in the summer something of the great calm of nature."

She's a Great Mother.

Yesterday at the hospital I talked with a woman who is suffering great pain.

"I don't know what I should do," she said, "except for the camping trip I took this summer. Last night I could not sleep at all—but I didn't worry. I just laid here and thought of the clear lake, deep in the forest and the sweetgrass that grows along the edge of it and how the stars looked when they were reflected in it. And I could see the shadows made by the flickering of our campfire and in all the fever and misery of my suffering I thought: 'I cannot see it now, but it is there still, the clear, quiet lake, and tonight when I am so restless the stars shine in the lake as if it were a mirror, and the wind is singing softly in the tall pines.'"

"It rested me and I was quiet, and in the morning the nurse said: 'You look rested. Did you sleep well?' And I answered: 'No, I did not sleep—but I am rested,' and it was quite true."

"I felt as if I had rested all night in the arms of my dear, quiet, calm, patient mother, who knows and understands—everything."

Yes, she's a great mother, old Mother Nature! I am glad to see so many of her children going out to visit her every summer.

DISHES WITH A MEAT FLAVOR

By LORETTA C. LYNCH

A Recognized Authority on All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

TO MANY folks the daily use of meat is not only objectionable from a dietary standpoint, but the cost on a limited income is prohibitive. For the housewives who are up against this problem let me say that all good cooks know of ways of extending the flavor of meat. For instance, if half a pound of fresh chopped meat or sausage meat is cooked in with that cupful of rice toward the end of the cooking, the meat that perhaps would have served only one may be made to serve four. Of course, chopped onion, some tomato and seasoning may be added.

Half a pound of chopped beef may be combined with half a dozen large potatoes that have been mashed. A little chopped onion or a suspicion of garlic and a spray of finely chopped parsley with the necessary seasonings and the potatoes and the small quantity of meat may be placed in a baking dish brushed over with milk and bake. In this way half a pound of meat may be extended to serve several.

The Italian housewife has a novel way of extending the flavor of a very small quantity of meat when making up a dish of spaghetti. I have seen an Italian mother feed five with spaghetti into the sauce of which had been cooked a fat pork chop cut into small pieces.

Green peppers may have a core removed from the top and after the seeds have been removed a mixture of cooked rice and meat and potatoes stuffed into the cavities provides a novel way of extending meat flavor after the peppers are carefully baked.

Cold cornmeal may be pressed into shape, sliced and sauted in bacon fat. Some tiny bits of cooked bacon, two slices to five or six fried cakes may be sprinkled over the delicately browned cakes just before serving.

Old-Fashioned Current Fritters.

To four tablespoons of flour, add the beaten yolks of three eggs, a cupful of milk, a cupful of washed and stemmed currants, the beaten whites of the eggs and a half saltspoonful of salt. Mix these ingredients and drop the batter into hot fat by the spoonful, using a large kitchen spoon. Fry the fritters a delicate brown, drain them, then dust them with powdered sugar and serve them in a napkin.

At the beginning of the smallest pension paid to any State providing pension single child was $10 a month the highest $25.

Here Are Recipes to Make Delicious and Unusual Dishes

By Jeannette Young

THE housekeeper who is on the lookout for new recipes will find in some of the dishes just the thing. Never a thought of unpleasantness, here are a few recipes that are permitted to arise, and play together without a thought of friction.

Though the women may sew in homes or gather in some spot for hours at a time, there is one word of unpleasantness. They chat about the journey made last year, of the tribulations that beset the path of the big seal or great that fell to some mighty hunter of their children and their husband—all without thought of a word or unhappy critical word.

Those who know the various ways of Eskimos declare they have a war but once in their lives. Legend tells us that many years ago a few Norsemen from Norway settled upon the southern coast of Greenland and were well of the things that surprises the visitor to an Eskimo village—especially if it is in Barf—is the genial, jovial, will find in some of the dishes just the thing. Never a thought of unpleasantness, here are a few recipes that are permitted to arise, and play together without a thought of friction.

Though the women may sew in homes or gather in some spot for hours at a time, there is one word of unpleasantness. They chat about the journey made last year, of the tribulations that beset the path of the big seal or great that fell to some mighty hunter of their children and their husband—all without thought of a word or unhappy critical word.

Those who know the various ways of Eskimos declare they have a war but once in their lives. Legend tells us that many years ago a few Norsemen from Norway settled upon the southern coast of Greenland and were well

THE ZR-1.

HE is no blimp.
Not being limp.
Her frame is steel and rigid.
The ZR-1
Was built to run
In polar regions frigid.

When'er she flies
A myriad eyes
Observe her every action.
O'er land or sea,
She seems to be
The center of attraction.

TOO MUCH.

A LITTLE nonsense now and then
Is relished by the best of men;
But while for nonsense we are strong,
We bar that "No bananas" song.

QUITE SO.

The International air races had to be postponed on account of wet grounds. We hope the next international yacht race will not be halted by a dry sky.

The Yanks won the toss for the first game of the world's series.
Winning the game is something else
again.

Friends and admirers of Maurice Archdeacon presented him a traveling bag on his appearance here with the White Sox, in recognition of the fact that he is just about the fastest traveler in baseball.

The usual long-winded speech accompanied the traveling bag. It could just as well have been said
with flowers as a nice bunch of posies went with the bag.

CAN HAPPEN.

Maurice upset tradition by following the presentation with a base
hit. Another example of the uncer-tainities of baseball.

Kenny Williams made enough fouls Sunday to start a chicken ranch. But he couldn't make any of them fly over the fence.

Owing to the high cost of building material only the Yanks and Giants can afford to fabricate pennant winning teams.

If the Pikers would rather be callers Bears that Pikers, very well.
It's the animal instinct cropping
out, we take it.

Presume we can look for a bumper crop of "bear" stories emanating from the Pikeyard squad this autumn.

THE BEAR IDEA!

And there is always the chance that they will turn out to be bears
in name only.

Of all the animals the bear has
the least pleasing personality excepting the skunk.

The bear is awkward, ungainly
and cheap. It will follow an Italian around with a ring in its nose and get up on its hind legs and dance
for a nickel a throw. No dignity.

The bear is a plantigrade carnivorous mammal, but will eat anything. It is especially fond of grub worms and garbage.

The Great Bear and Little Bear
are all-star aggregations, but have no connection with football whatsoever.

NEW YORK JEWEL
ROBBERY LEADER
TAKEN IN FRANCE

Henri Boilat, Who Was Bu-

Shattuck, Wounded Resisting Arrest.

WAS TRAILED ACROSS
OCEAN BY VICTIM

Financier, Wife and Servant
Were Locked in Cellar
While Gang Took Gem-Jewels Valued at $90,000.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—After one of the most extensive searches in the history of the French police, Gabriel Alphonse Mourey, alias Henri Boilat, leader in the sensational Spartack jewel robbery in New York April, 1922, was found at Chelles, 12 miles from Paris, today, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Establishing the fact that Mourey was staying in the little Seine-et-Marne town, the police last night
drew a cordon around his villa and at daybreak made a rush upon the house. Mourey met their charge with a fusillade from two automatic pistols, forcing the officers to retreat and take cover behind nearby trees. A bullet sent through the window as he was resuming fire after reloading his weapons brought the fugitive down.

The police had been hot on the trail of Mourey since the arrival in France last July of Albert R. Shattuck, the retired financier, who with his wife and a number of servants was locked in the wine cellar of his New York home while Mourey and his confederates fled with jewels worth $90,000.

Mourey was successively reported to be in Lillie, Marseilles, and Bordeaux under different aliases. He was always successful in eluding arrest, each time getting a few hours start on the police. Photographs of him were sent throughout Europe
by Police Commissioner Enright of New York.

The French police some weeks ago entirely lost track of the fugitive, but through the extensive use of "stool pigeons" finally found him at Chelles. Inspector Fauriol and 12 men were dispatched to the scene and the gun fight ensued.
A search of Mourey's villa after he had been shot failed to reveal any of the Shattuck jewels.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Shattuck jewelry robbery was one of the most sensational crimes in the history of the city.

On April 2, 1922, five robbers, led by Boilat, a butler in the Washington Square home of Albert R. Shattuck, a retired financier, locked Shattuck, his wife and seven servants in the wine cellar of the house where they were held prisoners until Mrs. Shattuck nearly died from sufocation. They finally made the escape through the ingenuity of Shattuck, who pried open the lock.
Meanwhile the robbers fled with $90,000 worth of jewelry.

Three of the five robbers have been accounted for to date. William Boilat, wounded and Eugene Dasard and Maurice Barnoit, arrested at Plainfield, N. J., and sent to Sing-Sing for 40 to 60 years, only two of a large gang.

Shattuck had offered a $20,000
reward for the arrest of Boilat. On one piece of jewelry has been recovered. This was a $2000 diamond-studded watch, which was recovered in San Francisco from a woman who said Boilat gave it to her.

Mrs. Shattuck's nerves were shaken after the robbery that she refused to live at the home long with Mourey at large, and Shattuck closed his house, announcing would not be reopened until the rebel chief was captured.
